Financial Interests Of U.S. Supreme Court Nominees Disclosed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The financial interests of President Nixon's Supreme Court nominees, Lewis F. Powell, Jr., a Richmond, Va., lawyer, and William H. Rehnquist, a U.S. assistant attorney general, were disclosed Friday by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The list of Powell's holdings included 30 common stocks, among the such blue chips as IBM Xerox, Merck & Co., and A. T. & T., and bonds and real estate. They are worth well over $1 million at present market prices.

Also submitted to the committee, in preparation for its hearings starting Wednesday, were stockholdings of irrevocable trusts created by Powell plus stocks owned by his wife and his son, Lewis F. Powell III. A settlement submitted by the Justice Department valued the net assets of Rehnquist, a Phoenix, Ariz., lawyer before his government appointment in 1969, at $77,050.

The principal amount was a net equity of $24,900 in Rehnquist's residence in nearby McLean, Va.

The Liberal Americans for Democratic Action, meanwhile, announced that it will oppose Rehnquist's confirmation by the Senate.

In a statement, ADA vice chairman Joseph L. Rauh Jr., said: "Mr. Rehnquist has shown neither the respect for minority aspirations nor the devotion to the Bill of Rights which should be the hallmark of a Supreme Court justice."

The ADA said it continuing an investigation into the record of Powell.

The largest single item on Powell's statement was 8,462 shares of Sperry and Hutchinson, currently worth $318,284.

This stock was acquired two years ago when a family furniture business was sold to the firm.

A major pending Supreme Court case pits the Federal Trade Commission against Sperry and Hutchinson in a dispute over S&H's regulations of its trading stamps.

Presumably Powell would have to disqualify himself from this case.

A check of Securities and Exchange Commission filings previously had shown that Powell held nearly a half million dollars worth of stock in six corporations of which he was a director.

These firms are Ethyl Corp., Philip Morris, Commonwealth Natural Gas, United Virginia Bankshares, Richmond Corp., and Garfinkel, Brooks Bros., Miller and Rhoades.

Rehnquist's assets included land holdings in Arizona, where he practiced law before his appointment to the Justice Department, and in Colorado.

The statement said he has a 60-acre farm near Cedaredge in Delta County, Colo., for which he paid $22,500 and on which there is a first mortgage of $8,-500 and a second mortage of $3,350.

Also listed was a 47 per cent interest in Powers & Rehnquist, a partnership owning commercial lots in Mesa, Ariz., and building lots in Prescott, Ariz.

The approximate value of Rehnquist's interest was given as $81,000. The statement said the partnership was not involved in the practice of law.

Rehnquist also was listed as owning a 10-acre tract of land in the Hidden Valley subdivision near Springville in Apache County, Ariz. The purchase price was given as $5,000.

The approximate value of personal property in Rehnquist's residence, including automobiles, jewelry, furniture, wearing apparel and miscellaneous items, was listed as $12,000.

Senate Votes To Cut Aid Bill

Majority Leader Praises Action

(c) N.Y. Times Service

WASHINGTON—The Senate, by a vote of 41 to 27, rejected the Nixon administration's foreign aid authorization bill Friday.

It was the first time since the beginning of the Marshall Plan in 1948 that the Senate had refused to pass in some form a foreign aid measures requested by an administration.

After the final vote, the majority leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, told the Senate: "What the Senate has done in its wisdom is possibly mark the end of the foreign aid program as initiated after World War II in the Marshal Plan."

He noted that about $143-billion had been spent on foreign assistance in the postwar period. Saying that several billion dollars remain "in the pipeline," he said the program would "not die suddenly but very likely die a lingering death."

The majority leader said he hoped there would be no procedural resolution merely continuing the program at the level of last year's expenditures.

He said that "this is a clear signal separate and apart from the United Nations action on Monday" and that it was time to put into operation "a new foreign aid concept" that will take the burden off the United States, distribute it more equitably among nations and eliminate the "grab bag" concept of the aid bill.

"Perhaps this is part of the changing situation in the world in the early seventies," he continued. "Perhaps it is time to develop new ideas and get away from old ideas."

The end of the authorizing legislation, as far as the Senate is concerned, came after 10 hours of sometimes embittered debate during which administration's supporters managed to hold cuts in the bill to $288 million.

These included reductions of $113-million in military assistance grants and $175 million in economic development loans and grants to help less developed countries.

The U.N. had come in for criticism during the debate. This was represented in amendments requiring separate congressional authorization of the annual U.S. assessment for running expenses and recommending that the President try to negotiate a downward revision of that assessment to 25 per cent of the total.

The heaviest blow to the administration's hopes, until the final vote, came on a 43-to-36 vote that would cut the development loan funds of the agency for international development by 50 per cent to a total of $160 million. The administration has requested $400-million and the Foreign Relations Committee recommended $320-million.

Moments after the vote on development funds the Senate shouted through a proposal by two Republican senators, Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Theodore Stevens of Alaska more than doubling the cost of loans to less developed countries. It would require that interest rates be no less than that on Treasury borrowing to provide the money.

The agency for International Development has been making 40-year loans at 2 per cent in the first 10 years and 3 per cent thereafter; the rate on comparable Treasury securities runs from 6 to 8 per cent.

Earlier in the day the Senate voted, 45-to-36, to approve the restoration of $91 million asked by the administration for economic and military aid to Cambodia. The action raised the ceiling on such aid from $250 million, recommended by the committee, to $341 million.

One of the few surprises of the day came on a 49-to-31 vote that struck from the bill a ban on economic or military aid to Greece. Economic aid to that

Blount Quits Post Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — With President Nixon's thanks for a job well done, Winton M. Blount resigned as postmaster general Friday to head back to Alabama and a possible bid for the U.S. Senate seat of Democrat John J. Sparkman.

When Blount met with Nixon at the White House and told him he was leaving his government post, presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon expressed "his gratitude and appreciation for undertaking and accomplishing what many people thought was an impossible job"—reforming the unwieldy mail service.

Blount turned aside questions on wheher he would run for the Senate, saying "I feel it is time for me to leave the Post Office Department and go back to Alabama and make up my mind as to what I should do in the future."

That decision, he said will be made about the end of the year. His resignation was effective immediately.

But the lanky, 50-year-old former construction company president made it clear he is considering a Senate race. "I have stated on many occasions that I made my break with the private sector when the President asked me to come into the Cabinet," he told a White House news conference, "and I expect I will be involved in public service of one form or another in the future."

As postmaster general, Blount oversaw the transition of the Post Office to an independent, semi-autonomous private corporation known as the U.S. Postal Service. He said Nixon had asked him 'to undertake a complete reform of the postal service and I believe that job is now done."

The new postal service, he added "is well launched on a program that has already brought better mail service to the American public and I have no doubt ... the full promise of postal reform will come into being."

Sparkman, who has been in the Senate since 1945 and who was the Democratic vice presidential nominee in 1952, has indicated he will seek re-election next year.

Another possible Senate candidate in Alabama is Gov. George Wallace. Asked whether his decision would be affected if Wallace decided to run, Blount replied "Of course, the whole climate surrounding the Senate race in Alabama will have an impact on it."

He declined to say whether Nixon encouraged or discouraged political ambitions on his part, adding with a smile "I am a difficult fellow to discourage anyway."

Blount lost his Cabinet status in July with implementation of postal reform legislation. His successor will be named by the Postal Service's board of governors. In the meantime, deputy postmaster general Merrill A. Hayden will be in charge.

OUTSIZE HALLOWEEN FRUIT

"Look, Ma — one hand!" But 10-month-old Scott Nelson isn't about to shift that wheelbarrow-load of pumpkin, though he gave it a good try — with both hands, before he gave up. It took the strong arms of both his dad, Myron Nelson, and fellow gardner Winford "Toot" Dyer to hoist the giant pumpkin into the wheelbarrow. It was one of nearly a dozen outsize Halloween funnyface fruit the two men raised, using only homemade organic compost fertilizer, in their Youngsville backyard garden. (Photo by Rhodes)

Dayton To Close Public Schools; Out Of Money

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dayton's public schools have run out of money and will close next week, giving 56,000 pupils an early vacation.

They could be joined by as many as 67,000 pupils in 28 other Ohio school districts that may go broke before Jan. 1.

The problem stems from local tax levies but are compounded by a general cutback in state aid. Many school closings could be prevented if voters approve local tax levies in Tuesday's election. Otherwise, schools could be closed until January when they could reopen on 1972 budgets.

Dayton voters have rejected four school tax levies in the past 20 months and will vote on two—perhaps three—more before the end of this year.

In Cleveland, the state's largest school district, Supt. Paul Briggs said a 3 per cent statewide austerity cut in state aid to education "has put us in the position where we do not have the cash flow sufficient to complete this school year."

At Briggs' urging the Cleveland school board voted to sue the state to recover the 3 per cent cut, which amounts to about $1.5 million monthly statewide and $60,000 monthly in Cleveland.

Columbus School Supt. John Ellis reported the state cut has cost his schools $45,000 a month and forced him to lay off 800 nonacademic employes. He said city schools will "be in very serious straits" after Dec. 31.

Gov. John J. Gilligan ordered the 3 per cent austerity cut Sept. 1—two months after the state started a fiscal year without a budget because of a legislative dispute over taxes to finance new programs.

Legislative leaders hope for a vote on the budget next week, after school district patrons have voted on the local school tax levies.

The legislature approved a $2.75 million emergency allocation for interest-free loans to continue local schools for up to 30 days. Dayton will have used its allocation by next Friday and all but $500,000 of the emergency fund has been loaned or promised.

Ohio ranks 15th among the 50 states in per capita personal income. The U.S. Commerce Department in 1970 listed the state's per capita income at $3,972.

Twenty-nine school districts have qualified to close before Jan. 1 for lack of funds, but one was saved by approval of a tax levy. Four others have asked for audits, a legal preliminary to closing.

Shapp Creates 10 State Jobs

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shapp announced Friday the creation of 10 state jobs funded under the Emergency Employment act of 1971 and said that veterans were assigned to the positions.

The federal hiring program will enable the state to hire 236 new employes this year, he added. The funds can be used until June 1973.

"We gave priority to recently discharged GI's when selecting unemployed or underemployed applicants for these first public positions,' Shapp said.

He added that he hoped the jobs could be made permanent.

Those appointed Friday will work with the state's Program to Advance Veteran's Education, which now has 50 counseling centers around the state, the governor said.

Valentine Disposal Granted March 1 Operation Extension

The Dept. of Justice in Harrisburg Friday granted an extension to Valentine Disposal Company for the operation of its landfill on Cobham Park rd. The company will now be permitted to operate until March 1, 1972

The Warren County court had ordered the landfill closed November 1, when state Task Force attorneys cited the operators for being in violation of the law.

The extension of time was granted at the request of county officials. Officials said that the proposed landfill site to be operated by the Warren County Solid Waste Authority could not be in operation prior to that date.

Warren County's solid waste plan has been cited as the first to be approved in the state.

'LONG HAIR' CASE IN COURT

70 Male Students Suspended

PITTSBURGH (AP) — About 70 male students at suburban Norwin High School have been suspended for having long hair, but the dispute may be cut short by the courts.

"The real issue here is whether the school board is going to have any say at all in running the schools," said School Supt. James Dudley.

The board won at least a skirmish Friday when U.S. District Judge Gerald Weber denied an American Civil Liberties Union request for a temporary restraining order to force readmittance of the students.

The judge also delayed setting a date for a hearing on the ACLU's request for a preliminary order until the board is served with the complaint and has time to submit a reply.

The controversy peaked last week when Principal Ronald Peduzzi, who took office Oct. 12, announced he would enforce the school dress code.

The code requires boys' hair not extend below the collar, eyebrows and ears.

"The school board told me when I got the mob that we were going to enforce the code," said Peduzzi, "and that's what we have done."

The suspensions began last Friday when some students staged a protest demonstration. Other suspensions followed this week.

"We started checking them out Tuesday to see if they complied with the code," said Peduzzi, who noted several students got haircuts and were readmitted.

However, parents of the some of the pupils requested the aid of the ACLU, according to Marion Damick, head of the local ACLU.

"We are taking the action because we feel the students' civil liberties have been violated," said Mrs. Damick.

Supt. Dudley denied the charge, saying, "Some people are arguing that students have the same rights under the constitution as adults.

"But that is not the point here. The point is that if you're going to have standards you have to set up guidelines. The line has to be drawn somewhere."

Meetings were scheduled for over the weekend in an effort to avert the court test. However, both sides appeared willing to fight the battle to the finish.

"If this is the way it goes it would seem that we will have to appear in court," said John Nabuda, school board president. "Our board has every intention of supporting the adopted code."

The Norwin dispute, though distinguished by the number of students involved, is not unique.

In St. Louis, Mo., Stephen Bishop, 17, went to court after being suspended because his hair did not meet the St. Charles High School dress code.

On Thursday, the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that Bishop's right to wear long hair is protected by the Constitution.

Youngsville Faces 5 Mill Tax Hike

By FRANCES RHODES

When Youngsville Borough Council holds its regular monthly meeting Monday, the members will have to consider a tax increase. They will have before them the proposed budget for 1972, which shows estimated expenditures exceeding revenues by about $13,500. A levy of an extra 5 mills of real estate tax would bridge the gap and leave a little elbow room for unforeseeables.

A 5 mill increase would raise the total to 17 mills—2 mills less than Warren now pays.

One mill of real estate tax yields Youngsville Borough about $3,778. The present 12 mills rate brings in about $45,000.

Putting it in pocket book terms, Borough Manager George Probst says the owner of a home assessed at $10,000 currently pays $60 per year real estate tax. At 17 mills, this sum would go up to $85 — an increase of about $2.08 a month.

Councilmen have been studying the proposed budget since early September, individually, all together, and by committees. They met last Tuesday to review it again together.

The water, sewer and sanitation funds are all "pretty stable" says Probst. But the general fund will be "down to rock bottom" by the end of this year, and it appears likely that a loan will be needed early in the new year, to sustain the borough until tax receipts come in again — on a small scale in the spring, and the bulk (which would be the first reflecting any millage increase) a year from now.

Much of the financial bind is due to what could be called higher "housekeeping" costs. The borough needs a cost-of-living raise, so to speak. Everything is costing more, from office stationery to telephone calls to road surfacing materials.

No wage or salary increases are included in the proposed budget.

Many items have exceeded the budgeted allowance during the year now coming to a close. The severe weather conditions last winter hurt. Snow removal costs were double the estimate. Three times the anticipated amount of anti-skid materials (cinders, etc.) had to be used; more subsequent road repair and maintenance was needed, and the materials costs were higher.

The proposed budget includes only $2,000 for extra labor emergencies next year.

"People demand services like good roads and street lighting, but they cost, and keep costing more," says Probst. He claims that the long-term program to build a strong tar-and-chip surface on the borough's dirt roads will eventually prove to be an economy.

Personnel changes in the borough police department even helped strain the budget this year; new uniforms were needed — and their cost had risen.

The last millage increase was in 1967, when the rate went from 9 to 13 mills. Two years later it was lowered to 12 mills because it was felt too large a surplus was being generated — but soon afterward the borough suffered three reverses: it lost a judgement arising from condemnation proceedings on the Rouse collector road, to the tune of $17,000; had to pay $7,500 to recover the borough reservoirs, lost in a tax mix-up; and had to repay $9,000 mistakenly allocated to the borough in the new sewer plant negotiations.

These costs, plus those arising from the establishment of a mandated police pension fund this year were consolidated, with some smaller outstanding obligations, into a $50,000 package loan at a uniform 4½ per cent interest rate. It calls for repayment at the rate of about $12,000 a year, so that it can be liquidated in five years.

"If inflation does not increase, that $12,000 could possibly save another tax increase in 1977" commented Probst, in a letter to councilmen dated October 18.

It could also, he says, provide the basis for a sinking fund, to provide for future community improvements and unforeseeable contingencies.

U.S. Troops Put On Alert For Thieu's Inauguration

SAIGON (AP) — Foreign dignitaries began arriving Friday for the inauguration of President Nguyen Van Thieu. More than 40,000 South Vietnamese troops and police were mobilized in and around the capital to provide security for the Sunday ceremony.

The 202,000 American troops across the country also went on an alert confining most of them to bases and installations. This is intended to guard against possible enemey activity and also to keep them clear of any demonstrations against Thieu and the U.S. presence here.

About 1,500 South Vietnamese reinforcements were brought into the capital in preparation for the inauguration. The other forces are normally assigned to the defense of Saigon, but have been mobilized as a security force. Most of them are stationed in the downtown area where the inauguaration will take place.

Nearly 30 nations are sending representatives to the inaugural ceremony.

First to arrive was Maj. Gen. Sanga Kittikachorn, deputy foreign minister of Thailand. Thailand has provided an infantry division for the defense of South Vietnam.

Kittikachorn was followed by representatives of several other countries, including South Korea and Japan.

An eight-member delegation from Korea, headed by Premier Kim Jong-pil, was greeted at Tan Son Nhut Airport by Premier Tran Thien Khiem and Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam. South Korea has 50,000 troops here.

Secretary ot the Treasury John B. Connally was due to arrive early Saturday. U.S. Secret Service agents sent in advance have made elaborate security arrangements for Connally's arrival and stay in Vietnam.

Also due Saturday is Foreign Minister Nigel Bowen of Australia, another country that has contributed troops to South Vietnam.

A spokesman for Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said he had received an invitation to the inaugural ceremony but had not yet decided whether to attend. Ky retired from the presidential race, charging Thieu with rigging the election. Thus Thieu ran without oppostion.

On the battlefields, action picked up in the southern half of the country.

An American observation helicopter was shot down 21 miles northeast of Saigon, but there were no casualties.

South Vietnamese troops battled about 100 Viet Cong for nine hours 42 miles northeast of Saigon and 2 miles from the provincial capital of Xuan Loc.

Enemy sappers moved in behind a 70-round mortar barrage and attacked a government regimental headquarters in the resort city of Dalat, 150 miles northeast of Saigon.

Field reports said six South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and four wounded. One enemy soldier was killed.

In Cambodia, a high command spokesman reported more than 300 Cambodian troops had been wounded in three days of fighting on the northeastern front. Deaths were not reported.

An enemy counteroffensive against 20,000 troops operating along Highway 6 northeast of Phnom Penh continued without letup through Friday, the spokesman added.

British Mount New Offensive Against IRA

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops mounted a new offensive against Irish Republican Army guerrillas Friday, sweeping into downtown Belfast to search shoppers for guns and bombs.

IRA men retaliated by blowing up a police station, killing a chief inspector and injuring two constables.

The big gelignite bomb also blasted into rubble a grocery and a drug store and capped a day-long series of fund-raising holdups, snipings and bombings.

The death of the chief inspector, buried under the station debris, brought to 141 the number of persons killed since religious and political violence erupted in this British Province more than two years ago.

At midday, while streets bustled with shoppers, three British armored trucks wheeled up to block Ann Street. Soldiers in battle gear, backed by dogs trained to sniff out explosives and weapons, and electronic "gelignite sniffers," swarmed down the block.

Clients in about 50 stores were personally searched. No shopper escaped. The troops found nothing.

"The operation was designed to harass terrorists," said an army spokesman. "We are convinced they are moving weapons and explosives about the streets during the height of rush traffic."

Less than three hours later and less than two miles away, the Chichester Park police station blew up with a roar.

Another bomb, fitted into what appeared to be a transister radio, blew up a dry goods store and a baby wear shop after searches following a telephoned tip failed to detect the explosive. No one was hurt.

Armed and masked men, reported to be IRA gunmen, held up a heating firm, the Tullyrosmearn Post Office and the Northern Bank at Rostrevor, County Down, all in Northern Ireland. Across the border in the Irish Republic another gang ambushed a post office truck. There was no immediate tally of the money taken.

Prime Minister Jack Lynch of the Irish Republic moved more troops to the border. Irish soldiers have had two serious confrontations in recent days with British troops engaged in blowing up border access roads.

Snipers wounded a British soldier in the Ardoyne area and the army said return fire hit a civilian. Partisans dragged him away.

The army also found 2,000 rounds of ammunition in an unoccupied house.

McCarthy Virtually Announces

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota sent 100,000 likely political allies Friday a letter virtually announcing his presidential candidacy in 1972, and indicating he might campaign outside the major party framework.

"The party that wins the presidency in 1972 must stand for something," McCarthy said. "The election should not be settled by default or choice of the better of two marginal candidates."

McCarthy, who sought the 1968 Democratic presidential nomination in a challenge to then-President Lyndon B. Johnson, said he is enlarging his staff now and intends to establish soon a formal 1972 campaign committee.

He said he will demand an immediate end to the war in South Vietnam, and criticized the campaigns of Democratic presidential prospects, saying that on domestic issues they "have offered little more than warmed-over New Deal proposals or quantitative increases in Nixon proposals."

McCarthy said he plans "an active and positive effort to secure convention delegates with views similar to ours." He said that will involve him in the presidential primaries, which means he would begin the campaign as a Democrat.

UNESCO Seats Communist China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Red China, disclosing it will send a delegation to the United Nations in the "near future," made clear Friday it expects to occupy China's seat in all related agencies.

As if in answer, the executive board of the United Nations Education, Scientific and Cultural Organization in Paris voted a few hours later to recognize Communist China as "the only legitimate representative of China in UNESCO."

Adopted by a 25-3 vote, the motion had the effect of ousting Nationalist China from UNESCO, formed in 1945 to contribute to peace by promoting collaboration in education, science and culture.

The UNESCO decision sets a precedent for other independent United Nations agencies.

Peking's position prepared the way for a series of contests in more than a dozen of these U.N. specialized agencies that technically can decide their own membership.

Nationalist China's veteran U.N. ambassador, Liu Chieh, already had said that "we will definitely retain our membership in these agencies because they are independent—some long before the U.N.—and all have different constitutions and serve different purposes."

There seemed to be little doubt among U.N. diplomats that the outcome in the agencies—including the World Health Organization, the International Bank, and the International Labor Organization, would be the same as the U.N. General Assembly decision Monday night.

At that time the assembly voted 76-35 with 17 abstaining to expel Nationalist China and seat the People's Republic of China.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said Thursday that the Nixon administration was intensively studying avenues available for Nationalist China to remain a member of the specialized agencies.

Red China's acceptance of the U.N. decision was contained in a cable to Secretary-General U Thant. A U.N. spokesman described the cable as the first official communication from the Peking government since 1950. Friday's message was in English.

Acting Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei first acknowledged a message from Thant notifying him of the assembly's action and then informed Thant that a delegation would be sent.

Diplomats were quick to note that Chi had placed special stress on a provision in the approved resolution stating that the Nationalist Chinese government was expelled from related agencies as well as the United Nations itself.

Chi expressed the belief that "the above-mentioned resolution will be speedily implemented in its entirety." This was interpreted as meaning all agencies should expel the Nationalists.

U.N. officials and some delegates backed the Chinese Nationalist contention that, despite the wording of the assembly resolution, most of the major U.N. agencies had to make their own decisions on expulsion.

The U.N. spokesman said the United Nations "doesn't legislate for the specialized agencies. Each agency has its own constitution and legislative body and is responsible to its own membership."

These agencies are distinct from purely U.N. organs, such as the Security Council, Economic and Social Council and some of the voluntary groups such as UNICEF and the U.N. Development Program. The Chinese Nationalists already have announced their withdrawal from such organs.

The general expectation is that the Red Chinese delegation may arrive within the next few days.

Chi's cable was in response to Thant's message of Oct. 26 officially notifying the Peking government of the assembly's decision. The Chinese official did not mention a later message from the secretary-general urging quick action to fill China's seat in the 15-nation Security Council.

The council seat is now vacant. Some diplomats have expressed concern that a legal tangle might result if the council was called to deal with an emergency while one of the five permanent members was absent.

Autopsy Performed In Death

An autopsy was performed Wednesday on the body of Joseph Sullivan, 20, of Crofton, found Monday in an abandoned barn in Forest County.

Mystery seems to shroud the case and officials say so far there is no indication of foul play.

James K. Haslet, Forest County coroner, said the youth, a student at Pitt University in Pittsburgh, was dead six days before his body was discovered.

Discovery of the body was made by Charles Kaegle of East Hickory in an abandoned barn along Route 62 in Hickory Township. The barn is owned by Mrs. Nellie George of East Hickory, according to Haslet, who said it is unknown what the youth was doing in this area.

The autopsy was performed by Dr. Howard Griffin, pathologist at Franklin Hospital, and Haslet said specimens have been sent to a laboratory in Willow Grove near Philadelphia.

Haslet said officials at the lab will send a report on their findings and it is expected to be received within one week.

State Police Investigate Glass Breakage

TIONESTA — State police report that the investigation is continuing in the glass breakage which occurred in Tionesta Borough and Hickory Township during the summer. Several parked vehicles were damaged by thrown objects. A break in the case has occurred and police will file charges shortly.

Between the 17th and 23rd of October a camp owned by James W. Wilson of Charleroi was burglarized and some $37 worth of lawn furniture was taken from beneath the trailer.

Also between the 17th and 23rd, a camp owned by Frank Christy of Tarentum was entered in Jenks Township and used for a few days. There was $7 damage done but nothing taken.

A car was burglarized at East Hickory last Friday night. A jeep owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wade Lathrop of Vienna, Ohio was entered through a rear window while the Lathrops were in Forest Manor Restaurant. Two coats valued at $25 were stolen.

Bert Rudolph of East Hickory reports someone has been stealing for some time from his garage. Missing are antique fruit jars, a sledge hammer and assorted tools, valued at $75.

Man, Wife Killed

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — An elderly man and his wife were killed in a single car accident Friday when their car went out of control on a borough street and struck a tree.

Police said the victims were Morris A. Shoop and his wife, Dorothy, 68, of Fort Fetter in Blair County.

country was discontinued several years ago but the measure provided $118 million of military aid, including "excess" weapons and equipment, and $60-million for F-4 fighter planes and "supporting" facilities.

The Foreign Relations Committee had adopted the language of the House-approved ban, which included a proviso that the President could find that "overriding considerations of the national defense" required a waiver of the ban and reported his finding to Congress.

In the debate on the amendment to delete the ban, Sen. J.W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, argued that "the continued repression of human rights in Greece weakens the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance" rather than strengthening it.

Newspaper Firebombed

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — A firebomb was tossed into the building housing the Williamsport Grit, a weekly newspaper, Thursday night, causing minor damage.

Williamsport Police Chief Joseph R. Longo said that he believed the firebombing was connected to threats made following a narcotics raid earlier Thursday.

Longo said pieces of what appeared to be a firebomb were found in the debris. The fire was contained in the mailing room by an automatic sprinkling system.

Soviets Deliver New Jet Fighters To Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviets have made their first deliveries of new Mig21 jet fighters to Cuba in more than four years, Defense Department sources said Friday.

The planes arrived in Havana aboard a Russian freighter last Sunday, a few days before the visit of Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin, the sources said.

U.S. reconnaissance aircraft sighted five Mig21 planes on the deck of the freighter Bratstvo while the ship was en route to Cuba.

American authorities said this increases Cuba's force of first-line Mig21 jet fighters to 57. The new planes probably are intended to replace old model Mig15s and Mig17s, they said.

Western experts calculate the Russians have furnished Cuba more than $1 billion in military aid since Fidel Castro came to power in 1959.

The Cubans and Russians signed a new agreement in September under which Cuba will receive about $500 million a year in economic help, according to U.S. estimates.

Recent reports to U.S. intelligence suggests the Cubans are widening their activities in Latin America.

Pentagon sources said Cuban security men recently have been in Santiago, Chile, to help that country's leftist regime in developing Chile's police, and that some 30 Chilean security officers have gone to Havana for training.

Meanwhile, a five-ship Soviet naval task force was reported about 75 miles east of Cape Kennedy, Fla., apparently en route to Cuba. The task force, trailed by U.S. reconnaissance planes and destroyers, has been maintaining a leisurely pace.

The Soviet naval force includes a modern guided missile cruiser, a guided missile destroyer, two diesel-powered submarines and a tanker for refueling.

The Soviet news agency Tass announced nine days ago that the naval squadron would make "an official visit of friendship" to Cuba and would remain in Cuban waters for about 10 days.

Russian waships have been making periodic cruises to Cuba for more than two years in what U.S. officials regard as a continuing demonstration of Soviet intent to show their flag in areas of their interest.

The Russians also have tried to show their aerial reach from time to time with long-distance flights of reconnaissance bombers. Two TU95 Bear bombers reached Havana two days ago after a nonstop trip from the Soviet Union.

Heath Praised For Britain's Entry Into Common Market

LONDON (AP) — World leaders Friday hailed Parliament's hefty approval of Britain's entry into the European Common Market but some of former Prime Minister Harold Wilson's opposition Laborites plotted revenge against defectors who made the Conservative government's victory possible.

Congratulations rolled into Prime Minister Edward Heath from the United States and Europe, with President Nixon describing the British decision as "a milestone for Europe." President Georges Pompidou of France expressed his satisfaction and Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany his pleasure.

But the reactions of British Commonwealth leaders appeared tinged with resignation because they foresee the loss of their traditional privileges in the British market.

There were signs of political danger both for Heath and for Wilson at home, however. The 112-vote majority in the 630-member House of Commons Thursday night reflected the deep doubts and divisions among the British people over a policy shift ending 1,000 years of independent British history and the assumption of a limited continental role.

The differences erupted Friday when Heath showed up at the Lancashire textile town of Salford to open a new school. Jeering, banner-waving crowds demonstrated against the prime minister and fighting broke out, leading to at least three arrests.

Wilson was not far away, in Blackpool, also in Lancashire, where he told a labor union rally that "anger and fear today dominate the nation's life." He accused the Heath government of leading Britain back to the dark, depressed 1930s with economic policies that find around a million Britons out of work and prices continuing to soar.

In the coming year, the Heath government must win Parliament's approval for a mass of enabling laws needed to clear the way for Britain actually to join the Common Market on the target date of Jan. 1, 1973.

The present members are: West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg.

THREE HURT WHEN CAR HITS RIG

A Sheffield mother and her two children were treated and released from Warren General Hospital Friday afternoon with injuries sustained when her car struck a tractor-trailer rig. Injured were Mrs. Lynn Doney, 27 and her children, Donna, 2 and Daniel, 1. State police said Mrs. Doney was traveling east on Rt. 6 about three-quarters of a mile east of Clarendon when she collided with the truck driven by William Altman, 50 of Greensburg when he did not have sufficient room to complete passing another slow-moving truck as he was traveling west. Damage to the rig was $18,000. The Doney vehicle was totally demolished with damage estimated at $2,300. Traffic was blocked both ways for two hours and only one-way traffic was permitted Friday evening as the trucks cargo of empty beer bottles and kegs was removed. Trooper Kenneth Corle investigated. Report Discloses Organized Gambling In Johnstown, Pa.

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania Crime Commission reported widespread and highly organized gambling in Johnstown that is linked to the Mafia and on Friday recommended some changes in high places locally.

The 68-page report tells of systematic gambling and corruption of municipal officials in the Cambria County city from the late 1950s to this year.

It recommended the Johnstown city council remove Police Chief Sam Coco on grounds he "has been extremely remiss in his leadership in that department." The report added:

"While the commission has not found sufficient evidence to conclude that Chief Coco received monetary benefits from the tolerance of organized gambling, he has nevertheless been responsible for underenforcing the gambling laws and for harrassing gamblers who failed to pay their 'tariffs.'"

Atty. Gen. J. Shane Creamer talked about the report at a News conference Friday, saying that an investigation was continuing. He said the commission will now direct its efforts to try and determine specifically to what extent the syndicate is involved in Johnstown gambling.

The commission's report was handed to newsmen on Capitol Hill early this week but the Justice Department embargoed publication until Saturday evening, which meant it would have appeared in Sunday papers. However, the Justice Department pushed publication up to Saturday morning on learning that many papers, including Johnstown's, do not publish on Sunday.

A similar embargo was placed the week before on the commission's investigation of a now-defunct Philadelphia bank. The Justice Department's reasoning for a news embargo of the Philadelphia report was that it would give local newspapers time to receive the report in the mail and for these papers to prepare "thoughtful" stories, according to a department spokesman.

The Johnstown report paints a picture of gambling operations running free from police or other official interference in return for bribes.

The commission took testimony from 34 persons, some of them reputed Mafia figures, and before the hearings began earlier this year "commission investigators gathered information showing that a number of well organized illegal gambling enterprises were operating in Johnstown."

"The principal ones," the report said, "consisted of numbers banks, sports books, football pools, treasury balance tickets, rigged card games and coined-operated gaming devices.

"Our investigation showed there were two major numbers banks operating in Johnstown and that the managers of these and other illegal enterprises were bribing public officials to permit their activities to continue.

"It also showed these banks were 'laying off' large bets with organized crime snydicates in Pittsburgh, New Kensington and Detroit, and that the sale of illegal treasury balance tickets had been arranged with an individual from Scranton, now deceased, who had been prominent in a statewide distribution of these tickets."

Gambling was linked "with the Cosa Nostra crime syndicate of John S. LaRocca in southwestern Pennsylvania," the report said.

The Scranton man was identified later in the report as Lou Cohen.

The commission said that during its investigation both Mayor Kenneth O. Tompkins and Coco "stated that gambling was not a major problem in Johnstown. They denied any knowledge of a protection system or of crime syndicate influence within the city."

ICC Predicts Big Debt For Amtrak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission predicted Friday that Amtrak, the new national rail passenger service, will go $5.2 million in the red this year and $72.2 million by Dec. 31, 1972, unless the government arranges adequate financing.

At the same time, the ICC urged that Amtrak act to meet complaints about poor connections between routes, trains not running on time, the quality and cost of food, out-of-order air-conditioning and broken windows.

The ICC also said Amtrak not only needs money to be financially sound but needs funds to improve the roadbeds, its equipment and stations.

In a report to President Nixon on Amtrak's operations, as required by law, the commission called for an improved fare structure, with possibly such innovations as standby and off-day fares. It suggested Amtrak consider service to some major cities that lost out when the railroads handed their passenger service to Amtrak last May 1.

"Our financial review has necessarily been restricted because of Amtrak's initial reluctance to provide access to all of its records, particularly those regarding its future financial needs and those supporting its operations to date," the ICC said.

"Nevertheless, we have sufficient information to convince us that Amtrak is substantially under-financed. Certainly, with the past history of rail passenger losses, the improvement expected of Amtrak cannot be accomplished within the framework of the existing corporate financial structure."

"...The future needs of Amtrak will almost certainly have to be met by direct government funding and by loans backed by government guarantees," the ICC said.

Amtrak's income up to Sept. 30 was $69.5 million with expenses totalling $55.6 million, leaving a cash balance of $13.9 million, the voluminous report said.

Noting that Amtrak will be able to obtain up to $100 million in federally guaranteed loans, the ICC said this will have to be used to cover deficits and Amtrak will be unable to make needed capital expenditures.

The report said one of the biggest complaints was poor connections involving layovers of 23 hours or more. Another was "illogical fare structures."

Environmentalist Hope To Stop Nuclear Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge studied secret documents Friday which environmentalists hope will persuade him to order a halt to a giant nuclear explosion set to go off within five days on a remote Alaskan island.

U.S. District Judge George L. Hart considered an appeal for an injunction from environmentalists as the Atomic Energy Commission made final preparations for the blast by stopping up a 6,000-foot hole housing the five-megaton warhead on Amchitka Island.

Four government agencies were required to deliver the disputed reports to Hart under an order from a three-judge appeals court.

The U.S. Court of Appeals turned aside the government's argument that the reports should remain secret under the legal doctrine known as executive privilege.

Environmentalist groups say the documents prove the explosion—reported set for next Thursday—can set off earthquakes and tidal waves, kill wildlife and permit radioactive leaks.

The AEC, backed by a personal authorization for the text from President Nixon, denies there is a potential for danger when the blast, equal to 5 million tons of TNT, goes off in a closed chamber 6,000 feet underground.

In a complicated legal tangle, environmentalists have claimed the AEC failed to carry out the 1969 National Environmental Policy Act requiring a statement of possible damage from the blast. Led by the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility, the seven groups say the AEC ignored information from others like the Envronmental Protection Agency which opposed the blast.

As preparations went ahead for the blast. Sweden joined Canada, Japan, and Peru in asking that it be stopped.

Japan said a U.S. warning setting up a special zone around the test amounted to a restriction of freedom of the high seas.

There were citizen protests mounted in Alaska and Canada and the crew of a converted minesweeper planned to anchor outside the three-mile limit in a demonstration against the test.

Proposed Law Would Permit County To Build Hospital

Warren County would be authorized to build, maintain and operate its own general hospital, under terms of a bill introduced in the State Legislature.

The legislation provides that such a county hospital "shall be used for the benefit of all inhabitants resident within the county" and would be operated by and under the authority of the Warren County Commissioners" in the same manner that other county buildings and institutions are operated."

As for financing the building, leasing or acquisition of such a county facility, the legislation would authorize the county commissioners to appropriate money from the county treasury to create a municipal authority for the purpose. Operation costs would be derived from county funds.

Since the Warren County Commissioners, with the aid of state funds, maintain the Rouse Home and the fact that Warren General Hospital is an independently operated hospital, this particular piece of legislation would have no impact here.

Some years ago, the county budget did contain an appropriation for Warren General Hospital, but this was eliminated. Dr. David K. Rice, chairman of the county commissioners, said the two institutions have a reciprocal agreement at the present time but involves no appropriation. The Rouse Home has agreed to have one bed available in the new addition to accommodate a WGH hospital patient who might qualify for admission to the Rouse. Warren General, in return, will, when necessary, admit a Rouse patient for surgery.

A second piece of legislation also applying to Warren and other sixth class counties has been introduced authorizing the county commissioners to levy an annual $25 tax on outdoor advertising devices, with the exception of those devices with an area of under 80 square feet which are attached to buildings.

Rice said the commissioners were aware of this legislation and would probably study it further.

The moneys derived from such a tax would be earmarked "for education and medication of mentally retarded and crippled children."

Ahead--National No-Fault Insurance?

By SYLVIA PORTER

Now before Congress is one of the most far-reaching consumer laws ever proposed. The bill, entitled the National No-Fault Motor Vehicle Insurance Act and co-sponsored by Sens. Philip A. Hart (D.-Mich.) and Warren G. Magnuson (D.-Wash.) calls for a revolutionary now nationwide system of no-fault automobile insurance.

The bill won't pass this year, but it well may become law next. And if it does, it could have an enormous impact both on the premium rates you are now paying and on the manner in which you are compensated for auto accident losses. Under the bill:

+No - fault auto insurance would become mandatory for all U.S. car owners. Insurance would become available to all licensed drivers on a non-cancellable basis to all.

+Premium amounts would depend on each individual's risk of loss and "loss exposure," based on your individual driving record, the amount and type of safety equipment in your car, your income level, etc.

+You, the victim of an auto accident — as passenger, driver or pedestrian — would be paid (no matter whose fault the accident was) for: all hospital and rehabilitation costs; property damage (except damage to your car); up to $1,000 a month in lost wages for as long as you are away from work; funeral costs. Other costs such as household help would be covered too.

+You could buy optional coverages from your insurance company, including extra income protection if you were in a higher income bracket, collision insurance to cover damage to your own car, special coverage for associated "pain and suffering."

+Payments would be made by insurance companies within 30 days of each accident, with interest tacked on after 30 days.

+Disputes between the insurance company and policyholder would be resolved by arbitration or in court proceedings, with lawyers' fees paid by the insurance company and, in suits involving "pain and suffering" coverage, with contingency fees to lawyers limited to 25 per cent of the gross recovery by the policyholder. A court could deny lawyers' fees, incidentally, if the claim turned out to be fraudulent, frivolous or excessive.

What might some benefits be? Accident victims, guilty or not, would be compensated within weeks instead of waiting for years for payments as they now do. Premiums for identical coverage would be at least 15 to 25 per cent lower. The benefit return to a victim would be 70 to 80 cents per $1 of premium paid, nearly double today's 40 to 45 cents per $1 of premium paid.

The Nixon administration's official stand is that no-fault auto insurance is a fine idea — and that the states, one by one, should enact their own laws.

That sounds great on the surface. But 50 different state laws? With the chaos and confusion that could bring? And the widespread deception that easily might encourage?

Already, millions of drivers in states that have passed some form of very weak, watered-down no-fault insurance are covered by laws which fail utterly to eliminate the concept of "fault" from most accidents, which fail to reduce premium costs as much as they should and which pay little or no attention to the steep cost of rehabilitating accident victims.

State-by-state no-fault laws would result in "a state of no-fault anarchy," said Winston V. Morrow, board chairman of Avis Rent-A-Car, before the Senate Commerce Committee considering the no-fault bill. "If the states are allowed to exercise their own volition, the job never will get done," added H. Clay Johnson, president of Royal-Globe Insurance Companies, before the same committee. As a footnote to both their remarks, it took a full 37 years — from 1911 to 1948 — for all our states to pass workmen's compensation laws.

In the final analysis, what you get will be up to YOU. In the words of a spokesman for the Senate Commerce Committee:

"Only public demand — loud and clear and right now — will get this law passed. The public is up against very powerful special interests, and must use every channel of communication at its disposal."

'FARMER OF THE YEAR'

James Marshall, right, chairman of the Warren County Soil and Water Conservation District, did the honors Monday evening to present a Conservation Farmer of the Year plaque to Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Morton, who operate a dairy farm in partnership with Hollis' brother George in Freehold Township.

Held For Court

James Swan, 22, of Union City was bound over for the Erie County Grand Jury Thursday on a charge of manslaughter.

Swan is accused in connection with the death of two-year-old Brian Aynkoop of Union City Sept. 28. The boy was fatally injured, apparently during a beating and died two days later in Union City Hospital.

Swan's hearing was held before District Porter Auer in Corry and returned to Erie County Jail in lieu of bond.

Mortons Conservation Farmers Of The Year

Hollis and George Morton of Bear Lake were recognized as Conservation Farmers of the Year at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service—Warren County Soil and Water Conservation District banquet Monday, Oct. 26.

Meeting at the Lander parish house, 114 persons heard William Carlett, forestry management advisor with the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources talk on forested land use, planning and ecology.

Robert Swanson, science teacher at Eisenhower High School and chairman of the Teaching Outdoor Education Committee, presented a slide talk on the Ecolab being developed by the School District and the Soil and Water Conservation District.

Ed Noll, field representative for the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission, also attended.

Percy Morton, ASCS district director presented Charles Camp, chairman of Warren ASC committee with a certificate for 20 year's service to ASCS in Warren County. He also presented a service certificate to Steve Bosko, Pittsfield community committeeman.

Area Tax Official Explains Estimated Income Returns

The first estimated state income tax returns are due in a little more than two weeks and a lot of people still don't understand what types of incomes should be estimated, according to Mayo Funari, district supervisor of the Bureau of Taxes for Education.

Funari, who serves an area that covers Warren, McKean, Elk, Cameron and Forest counties, asserts that pensions, annuities, social security and disability payments are not taxable.

Interest, dividends and income not subject to withholding, however, count as taxable income and must be estimated under the regulations outlined in Pennsylvania's 2.3 per cent income tax program. All income earned by these means since June 1 must be subjected to the 2.3 per cent rate as well as all income the taxpayer expects to earn between now and January 1.

A spokesman at the Bradford tax office explained Friday that the Nov. 15 deadline for estimated tax returns is for the benefit of businessmen and other independent wage earners that do not wish to pay their entire tax bill on April 15 when final income returns are due.

Payers of estimated tax can send part of what they owe to Harrisburg on Nov. 15 and another portion on January 15.

"Two of our field auditors have recently returned from a seminar in Harrisburg designed to prepare them for the job of dealing with the questions and the tax returns themselves," Funarti said.

He said that someone will be in the office five days a week from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. to answer questions and assist people in filling out the forms. The district office is located at 20 Congress st. in Bradford. Their phone number is 362-4633.

Only persons who expect to make less than $50 of non-deducted wages this year are exempt from filling out an estimate in November. They can claim these earnings in April with their other income statement.

Under the new income tax program there are no exemptions—as there was under the old system that has since been declared unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court.

However, anything withheld under the old tax will be applied as a tax credit to the new one, Funarti said. "It's difficult to pinpoint possible difficulties....each case and question will be treated as an individual."

Such problems as military pay, Pennsylvania residents working out of state residents working in Pennsylvania can be dealt with by getting in touch with the local district office.

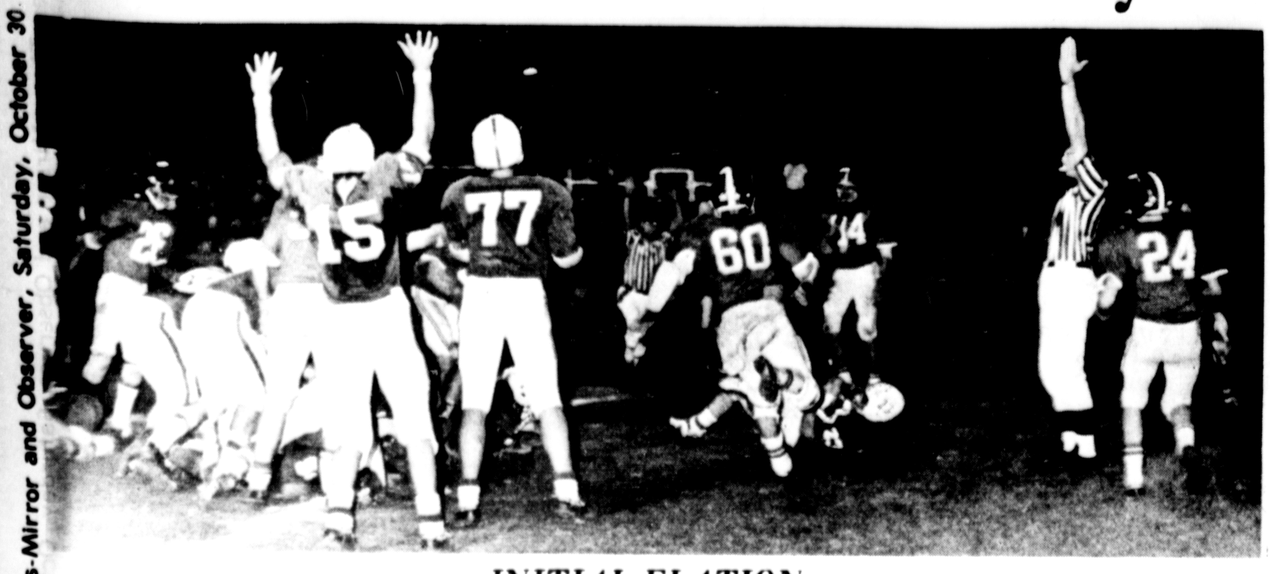
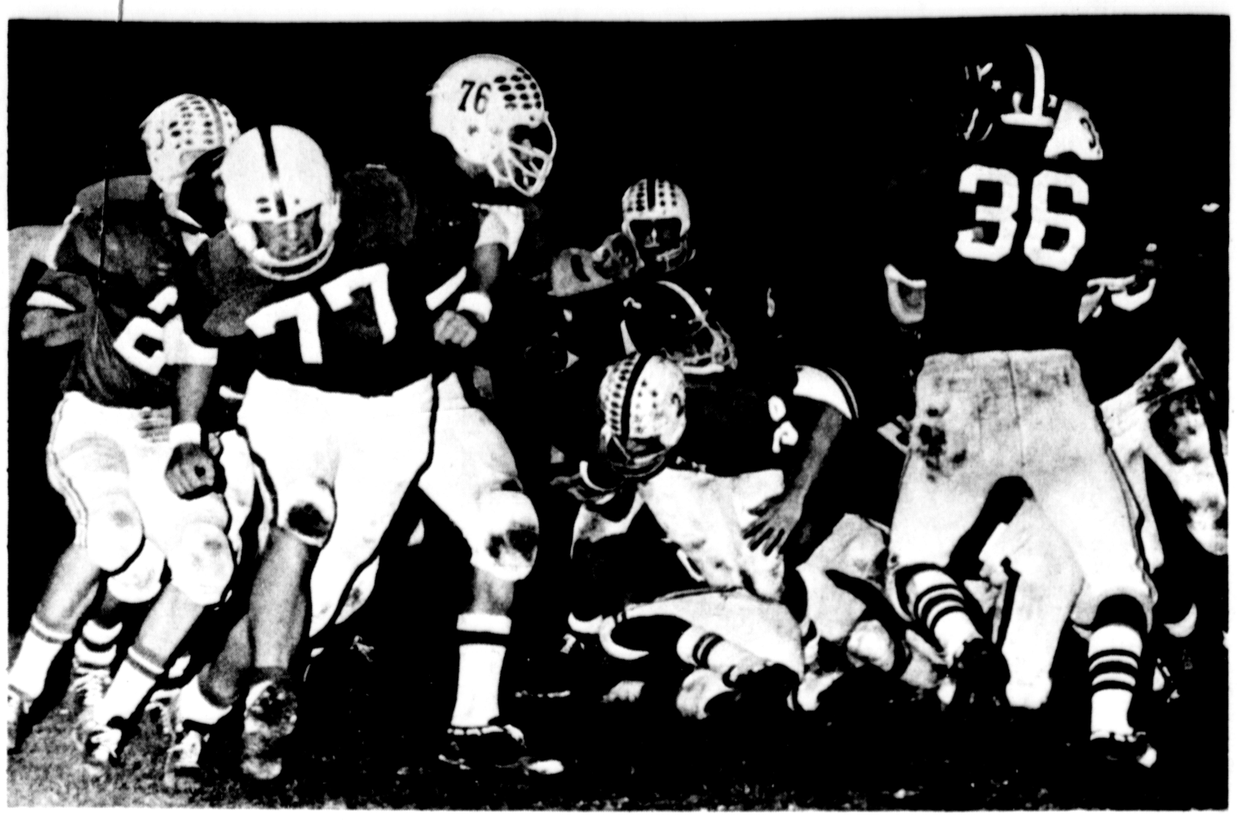
Bad News For Warren County Football Fans: All Four Teams Lose



INITIAL ELATION

Warren's Jim (15) Stromdahl signals and Dave (77) Mervine claps as Tom (23) Bright rolls on the ground after a one-yard plunge to put Warren further ahead of Franklin in the first quarter of Friday night's game. (Photos by Lester)



CAUGHT FROM BEHIND

At first glance, the photo seems to show some potent Warren High interference, with Dave (77) Mervine, Chris (76) Sirianni and Jim (15, behind Franklin player) Stromdahl clearing a path around end. But, as can be seen in the middle of the photo, the effort isn't doing any good. Ballcarrier Tom (23) Bright, tripping over one Franklin player, is being dragged down from behind by another.

Franklin Clips Dragons In Crucial Conference Tilt

By DAVID PIRILLO

FRANKLIN—Warren cast its fate to the winds last night, and it crashed in a sea of despair as the Franklin Knights, down 14-0 at the end of the first quarter, rode through the arch of triumph three periods later with a come-from-behind 24-20 victory here before a jam-packed Miller-Sibley Stadium crowd of over 5,000.

Warren's failure meant Franklin's success. In winning all the plaudits and kudos in the Northwest Football Conference, including the Section II trophy and title. The Section II title was Franklin's fourth in the past six years. Their last title came in 1967.

The Dragons instilled fear into the Franklin hosts when they scored twice on their first two times with the ball. Tom Bright, on the second play from scrimmage for Warren, ignited on his way through the right tackle hole and zipped straight downfield for a 67-yard touchdown scamper. It wasn't a matter of two minutes and ten plays later that he plunged in for Warren's second score, this from the one after Jeff Passaro recovered Frank Trinch's return of the kickoff near the 35.

Everybody, including Franklin coach Dave Stewart, thought Franklin had seen its better days. But the tide turned, as it had in Warren's Jamestown game, and the visitors let victory elude their clutches in the second half.

Bright carried the load for the Dragons. In toting the ball 22 times, he had 176 of Warren's total rushing yardage of 210. The rushing department, which Warren usually controls, went to the Knights 276-210. Setback Brad Crawshaw was responsible for the differential in the yards as he piled up 136 for 5.67 per carry.

The pendulum swung toward Franklin when Warren's Chris Sirianni was called for unnecessary roughness when the Knights were on the Warren 47 late in the first quarter. The penalty gave them a first and 11 from Warren's 31. Two slants by Crawshaw placed the Knights on the 18. Quarterback Trinch then scooted around the end on an option play and Warren had its back close to the goal line on the six. The first quarter ended on the play, but brought in a lively second period when Crawshaw punched the ball over on the second play from the three. Mickey Harris' extra point kick was wide, but the Knights nearly cut the lead in half, 14-6.

Warren never lost its poise, taking the ball on its 31 and moving to the 36, then dropping back to punt. Bright set up to kick, and let loose with a 40-yard boom, but two Franklin defenders knocked him to the turf, bringing a roughing-the-kicker penalty from an alert official. The Dragons breathed new life. On the continuation of the series, the Dragons were on Franklin's 41 with inches to go on fourth down. Bright burst off his left tackle—but without the ball. He had fumbled in the process and Franklin's Corby Allen, right tackle, cradled the ball in his chest on the Knight 30.

Otis Law got the call from Trinch on four successive pops over Warren's right side. He did the job, moving the ball to Warren's 13.

On the first of his four carries, he slipped by Warren's line and into the secondary, appearing to be all alone. But Warren safety Mike Piehuta quickly came up and grabbed the Knight scatback from behind on Warren's 35.

Twice Crawshaw threw his frame into the wall of blue and white, moving it into the five. Then Law took his turn again. On a quick slam over Warren's right side again, he oozed through for six points. He tried to tie the game on the extra-points play, but was caught short.

The third period was like an accordion, with both sides moving the ball for a few yards and giving up about the same on defense.

Finally, Law rammed into the line midway through the period on a second-and-five situation. He broke Peter Salerno's clasp and shot 47 yards for the go-ahead touchdown. The jubilant crowd still hadn't quieted down after Trinch's points-after pass was intercepted by defender Jim Stromdahl in the end zone.

Warren came right back, marched the ball deep into Knight territory, and looked as if it was about to score its third TD. Bright carried the ball five times on slants, bringing the ball to the 34 of Franklin. On his sixth attempt, he took a pitch from Young and moved into the 21. After a pickup of two yards, Warren died on the 19. Three incomplete passes, the last a halfback pass from Bright to Piehuta, killed the drive. Piehuta, on that third pass, was hit hard, juggled the ball, and landed on top of the pigskin, but the referee signalled an incompletion.

Crawshaw directed the last drive for the Knights. The series started on the 19; he twisted, barrelled and powered his way on four plays for 28 yards. From the ten of Warren, Trinch carried the last payload on an option play around the left side of Warren's alignment.

Warren's enemy at this time was the clock. The Dragons took the ensuing kickoff and consistently pushed Franklin backward. Bringing the ball inside Franklin territory on slants and bucks, Dragon coach Toby Shea elected to go through the air again. On Young's fourth pass attempt from inside enemy territory on this series, he dropped a pass into the hands of Stromdahl, who was running a goal-post pattern. Stromdahl skipped through the Franklin defenders for the score. Trailing by four, Warren tried to sweep Franklin's left side with Bright carrying the ball. It failed, and so did Warren.

2:39 remained when the Knights decided to kill the clock after Ricardo Alvarenga's on-side kick backfired and traveled only three yards.

Warren, now 4-4, hopes for a winning season when it plays Meadville next Friday night.

Westfield Crunches Eisenhower

By TOM SCHULTZ

WESTFIELD—Scoring in dramatic fashion the first time they had the ball, the Westfield Wolverines went on to crush the Eisenhower Knights Friday night in convincing style, 44-2, in Valley Conference action here.

The Knights were held to 128 total yards, 134 coming on the ground, but the Wolverine defense threw Ike passers, Curt Carlson and Mike Luvison, around for minus six yards. Fifteen times, Eisenhower took to the air, but only once did the receiver find the handle.

Ike took the opening kickoff and moved out to its 49 yard line before Carlson punted. Jim Scarpine, the only Wolverine deep, let the ball bounce over his head at the 15, then scooped it up at the three and sped 97 yards with the game's initial score. Scarpine swept left end for the extra points.

The Ike defense controlled the first quarter, as it allowed Westfield only five yards rushing and none through the air. The Knights were moving the ball for 74 yards, but couldn't score, getting as close as the Wolverines' 19.

Trouble hit Ike in the second period, as the Knights were set back from Westfield's 48 to their own 20, and were faced with a fourth-and-38.

Carlson was heavily rushed and got off a bad punt—only out to his 40. It took the Wolverines just five plays to up the score to 14-0, as Doug Peck swept left end for the last 11 yards.

In its next series, Westfield had a fourth-and-12 at its 35, and Peck dropped back to punt. He had intentions of booting, however, and hustled up the right sideline past the onrushing Knights, then cut across field in an apparent TD. But the Wolverines were detected for holding and the 65-yard run was called back to end the half.

The touchdown was made good four plays into the third period as Jeff Corcoran burst through the right side of the Ike line and rambled 33 yards without a hand being laid on him. Peck, behind good blocking, rolled right for the points after.

Eisenhower could pick up just one first down after taking the ensuing kickoff, and punted the ball back to Westfield.

Starting on its own 15, the home team struck again in just two plays—Rob Gizzi got 18 to the 33, then the Knights were called for a personal foul, advancing the ball to the 48.

From there, Gizzi finished the job by galloping 52 yards to paydirt, eluding Dave Van Ord's futile attempt at the five. Peck's PAT pass was incomplete, but the lead, 28-0, was becoming devastating.

Eisenhower had its only real scoring opportunity at the 8:00 mark of the final quarter, as it drove down to the Wolverine six, where it was first-and-goal. Mike Luvison got four yards, then one, for a third-and-goal at the one. Carlson tried to sneak over, but was thrown back by the middle of the Westfield line. Greg Manelick got the fourth-down call, but his dive was also repelled.

The Wolverine offense sputtered, as two long passes by Peck from the end zone were just out of Scarpine's reach. On third down, Ernie Carlson burst through and nailed Peck, as he was setting to pass again, for a safety.

Westfield punted and the Knights, slowly, were moving the ball. Ike crossed midfield, and facing a fourth down at the 39, Carlson dropped to pass. Under a big rush, he threw—right into the waiting arms of Al Holbrook, who took it back 60 yards for another Wolverine TD. Gizzi ran for the PAT.

Eisenhower got the ball back, but not for long, as Mark Naeser stole the ball at the 32.

One play is all that was needed, with Peck connecting with Scarpine for the score with 47 seconds left. Peck found Dean Haskin in the right corner of the end zone to close the evening's scoring.

Westfield was obviously tuning up for its visit to Silver Creek next Friday, as both are undefeated in conference play. The Wolverines rolled up 264 total yards, 224 coming on the ground.

They may be explosive on offense and tough on defense, virtues of a winning team, but they also showed an ugly side—three times they were whistled down for face-masking and once for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Eisenhower closes its season Saturday at Cassadaga Valley.

Smethport Knocks Sheffield, 32-12

SMETHPORT— Dave Kine picked a third quarter pass out of the air from Roger Reinard to open up a close 16-12 ball game Friday as Smethport outlasted Sheffield 32-12.

The touchdown by Kine covered 19 yards and, with the help of a pass from Reinard to Bob Miller on the extra point, pulled Smethport to a 24-12 lead and they pulled away from there.

Smethport scored first when on a third and one Steve Lynch shot down the left sidelines on a sweep and carried the ball 34 yards for a touchdown. Reinard lugged the ball over for the extra point, and it was 8-0 Smethport early in the second quarter.

After being unable to move the ball, Sheffield punted. On the ensuing offensive series, Smethport fumbled and Rick McClellan recovered the ball on the Smethport 47.

Kevin Weigel ran the ball for ten yards, then hit Brent Jones with a pass to move the ball to the 27 of the Hubbers. Two running plays netted two yards and on third and eight Weigel went back and tossed a 25 yard strike to Larry Champion for the score. The attempted point after run failed and Sheffield kicked off.

Smethport, trying a lot of end sweeps, brought the ball down to the 11 yard line where Reinard carried it in on a quarterback sneak. Bob Flickinger lunged in for the point after and that was the end of the scoring in the first half.

Jones put on a flashy display in the third quarter to bring Sheffield closer. Snagging the opening kickoff on his 15, he cut down the middle then slanted to the right, breaking tackles and going all the way for a score. The PAT run failed, and Sheffield trailed 16-12.

Sheffield's Craig Anderson recovered a Hubber fumble on the Wolverine 47 on the next series, and, with Jones' run highlighting a drive, moved to the hosts' 20 in nine plays. There the drive stalled, though, and Smethport regained possession at its 21. A penalty against Sheffield aided a spurt to midfield; another hurt even more, and, after reaching Sheffield's nine, Smethport moved back to the 15 on a loss caused by the Wolverine line.

From there Reinhard passed to Kine for what proved to be the key touchdown. In the fourth quarter, Smethport's Tom Everly picked off a Sheffield pass on the Wolverine 30 and scored on the runback.

Conneaut Valley Spanks Youngsville In Finale

CONNEAUT VALLEY— For a while, Youngsville made a game of it; but Willie Onderko, the second half of Conneaut Valley's scoring tandem with Sid Smock, drove around the ends for touchdowns of 20 and 30 yards in the second half to put the cap on a 30-12 Conneaut Valley thumping of Youngsville here Friday night.

The loss in Youngsville's final game of the season drops the Eagles to a 1-7 record for 1970.

Conneaut Valley, mixing end sweeps with masterful faking by quarterback Ron Welker, got on the scoreboard once in each quarter, striking for the first time on its initial series of downs. That was a 60-yard drive, capped by Smock's three-yard run and Willie Onderko's PATs and an 8-0 Valley lead.

Youngsville fizzled most of the quarter, netting just 25 yards rusing; near the end of the period, the Eagles began a scoring drive of their own that resulted in Denny Howe's hitting paydirt as he circled under a long TD pass from quarterback Byron Baker to bring the Eagles to within two points.

The extra points run try was stacked up by the Indian defense, though, and Smock capped another Conneaut Valley drive with a one-yard plunge to bring the hosts' lead to 16-6 at halftime.

It was more of the same in the third quarter as Youngsville couldn't generate an offense despite 16 game pass attempts, and the run-happy Indians pounded down to within range before losing Onderko.

Robin Ingols tallied again for Youngsville late in the game on a 44-yard pass from Baker, but time and the season had run out on the Eagles. Bob Graham and Al Moon sustained fourth-quarter injuries for Youngsville; neither was reported to be serious.

Foreman Scores Another

NEW YORK (AP) — Unbeaten George Foreman bombarded Luis Pires with a variety of numbing punches Friday night and won his 32nd pro fight when referee Johnny LoBianco halted the bout after four rounds.

Pires, a 33-year-old policeman from Brazil, was bleeding from the nose and from a cut below his swollen left eye and his left arm was practically useless. But he would not go down before the onslaught of the 23-year-old, second-ranked heavyweight contender from Hayward, Calif.

The end came with Pires sitting on his stool between the fourth and fifth rounds. When Foreman was announced as the winner he was jeered by a large part of the Madison Square Garden crowd.

Foreman, scoring his 29th knockout and 16th in a row, opened as though the scheduled 10-rounder would not get past the first round.

He bloodied Pires' nose and startled him on three occasions, twice with sharp left hooks and once with a smashing right.

But Pires came back to take the second round when he landed four or five good hooks and carried the fight to his younger opponent.

The 6-foot-4 Foreman, who weighed 215 pounds, a quarter-pound more than 6-2 Pires, took control again in the third round, almost closing Pires' left eye and opening a cut under the eye.

Pires, who caught many punches on his arms, complained in his corner at the end of the third round of cramps in both forearms.

The Brazilian later said he hurt the arm in the second round. Dr. Edwin Campbell, New York State Athletic Commission physician, said Pires suffered a muscle hemorrhage in the forearm and a possible hairline fracture. X-rays will be taken.

The crowd of 6,807 paid a gross of $39,042.

THIS IS FOOTBALL?

I've been accused more than once of being half-cocked when voicing concern over issues or situations that disturbed me in some way. But this time I've waited a full week, gathered a good supply of ammunition, and am ready to fire at something.

And that something happens to be the officiating in last Saturday's game between Warren and Jamestown.

I am not biased or partisan toward any sport in Warren. But I feel the Dragons were subject to injustice in Jamestown. It's not often that I'll chide referees for their role in handling a game because, more often than not, it sounds like sour grapes and they're only calling the plays from their honest observations.

In waiting a full week to complain, I've talked to other referees, coaches, players and fans at the game, and I've even waited for the films to be shown to vouch for some of my accusations.

With all the informants and film observations, I've decided that what I thought last Saturday after the game must be true: The referees showed incompetence with amazing consistency. I do hope it was incompetence and not something else that Warren was subject to by men supposedly with scruples.

Taking the instances that I thought were grossly mishandled in chronological order, I begin:

Warren back Jim Stromdahl's punt return of 75 yards was returned because of a supposed holding penalty on Dave Dunn after throwing a block on a Jamestown defender. It looked as though the referee didn't signal the infraction until the runner was well on his way for a score. In bringing the ball back, one referee gave the signal for clipping on Dunn, while the other said it was holding. In either case it is doubtful; the defender, as the game films show, was taken out on a perfect block and was never near Dunn for the Warren man to be called for holding.

Stromdahl was victim of circumstance once again. Receiving a punt on a fair-catch signal, he was hit around the lower region of the legs. A flag was dropped to indicate the infraction. After the referees conferred for a short period, nothing happened. It appeared as though the one ref was talked out of his decision, because Warren took over and put the ball in play from the spot of the reception.

On another of Jamestown's punts, an end crept into the backfield, giving the Red Raiders five men in the secondary and six on the line. According to the rules, this is another infraction. However, the officials didn't recognize the odd formation.

When Mark Edstrom was scrambling in the backfield, looking for a receiver, more than five men were down field and eligible for a pass. The pass was completed for a 36-yard touchdown, but one referee said he took it for granted that only four were out, and if there were, he missed it, and he was sorry. Being sorry didn't expunge the six points.

Immediately following the touchdown, nine players were in the lineup for the points-after. Five were on the line and four in the backfield. Nine men is legal, for an offensive formation but the official scholastic rulebook states that at least seven men must be on the line. This cost Warren another two points.

Toward the completion of the game, Tom Bright was called for in-motion after he took a step backwards and ran parallel to Warren's front line. Movies showed that the Dragon runner was committing no violation.

In Rob Young's attempt to toss a short flip in the backfield to Tom Bright, the ball fell short of its mark. The toss was ruled a lateral, but from where I stood it was clearly a forward gesture. The films, too, do not reveal that a lateral occured; even so, Mark Edstrom went to both knees to pick up the pigskin, officially downing the ball at that spot. After he got to his feet and carried the ball forward, the officials placed the ball at the most forward spot and not where he downed the supposed awry lateral.

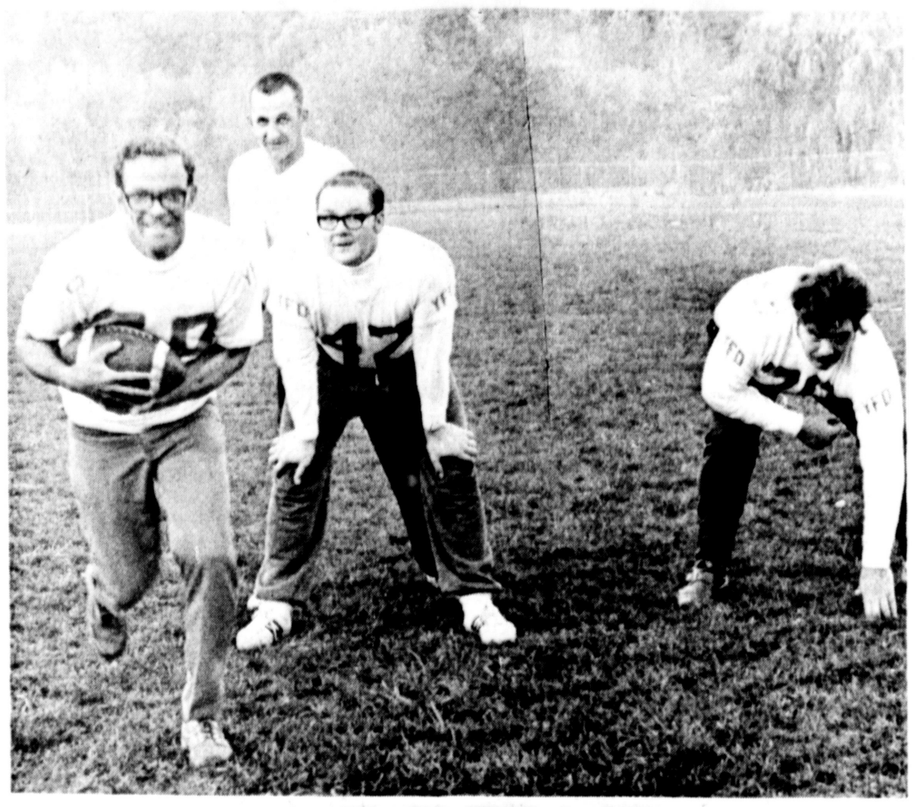
I noticed along the sideline that the chain, which was a homemade job, was either four or five inches over ten yards, or the lined field was incorrectly marked off. Add this to not enough end zone flags and poor field markers, and you have what could possibly kinder chaos if certain developments were to have taken place.

A few mistakes can be overlooked, but all the ones mentioned and possibly a few more that weren't detected indicate that Warren didn't get a fair shake.

This isn't the first time it has happened in Jamestown in recent years. I can recall at least two other instances where the refereeing has been sub-par.

What can be done? Nothing can be done about the past, that's history. But I strongly believe that if the situation cannot be resolved, the termination of the age-old rivalry should take place.

Does it sound a little harsh? Not any more than the injustice that the Dragons suffered through last Saturday.



C'MON TO THE GAME

Rounding into shape—or should we say, ridding themselves of the round in order to get into shape, these members of the Youngsville Saints are ready to do battle Sunday at 2 p.m. with the Starbrick Mooses in what should be a memorable, if not epic, flag football clash between the rival volunteer fire departments. The game, to be played rain or shine on the Youngsville High field, is being staged to benefit Pittsfield's Sue Perrin, whose kidney transplant necessitates a need for funds. Members of both departments promise an entertaining show, and hope that a large crowd will be on hand to view the game and support a worthwhile cause. (Photo by Rhodes)

National Champion Nebraska Faces Upset-Minded Colorado

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Having disposed of seven straight opponents, none of whom has graced the Top Twenty teams this season, Nebraska's defending national champions face their toughest test thus far Saturday when they tangle with the once-beaten and ninth-ranked Colorado Buffaloes.

The game at Lincoln, Neb., will be televised nationally (ABC-TV, 1:30 p.m., EDT) and sends the Cornhuskers against a rival Big Eight team that already has beaten such powers as Louisiana State and Ohio State on the road and lost only to second-ranked Oklahoma.

The Buffs' ground-oriented attack features Charlie Davis (694 yards, 6.1 average; and John Tarver (391, 4.8) plus dangerous and speedy receivers such as Cliff Branch, Willie Nichols and Marv Whitaker.

Herb Orvis, who should be fully recovered from a sprained ankle, and Bud Magrum lead the defensive charge but the Buffs, who have been singed for 21 points by LSU and Kansas State and 45 by Oklahoma, will have their hands full with the Cornhuskers.

The balanced Nebraska attack-1,882 yards rushing, 1,313 passing-starts with quarterback Jerry Tagge, ably abetted by the running of Jeff Kinney and Gary Dixon and the receiving of Johnny Rodgers. Tackle Larry Jacobson and end Willie Harper are the defensive leaders up front, backed by the topnotch secondary of Joe Blahak, Jim Anderson and Bill Kosch.

Two other unbeaten teams-there are 10 left-also face opponents that have lost but once. High-scoring Oklahoma entertains Iowa State and sixth-ranked Penn State visits West Virginia.

The top seven teams in The Associated Press ratings are all unbeaten and Saturday finds No. 3 Michigan at home against Indiana, No. 4 Alabama in Jackson, Miss., for a night game with Mississippi State, Florida visiting No. 5 Auburn and No. 7 Georgia at South Carolina under the lights.

Rounding out the Top Ten, Texas A&M faces No. 8 Arkansas in Little Rock at night and No. 10 Ohio State visits Minnesota.

The other unbeatens are 15th-ranked Toledo, which plays at Miami of Ohio, and Ivy Leaguers Cornell and Dartmouth, at home with Columbia and Yale, respectively.

Toledo, which has won its last 30 games, will be trying to tie the second longest winning streak of modern times against Miami of Ohio. The Oklahoma teams of 1948-50 won 31 games in a row. Oklahoma, 1953-7 version, also holds the record of 47.

Oklahoma played without five key people in trampling Kansas State 75-28 last week. But the missing were all from the defenisve unit, which isn't about to make anyone forget the Seven Blocks of Granite, anyway.

The offense is another matter with 2,920 rushing yards in six games. In total offense, the score is 3,373 yards, opponents 2,288. The awesome Wishbone backfield features Greg Pruitt (1,113 yards, 12.1 average), Jack Mildren (619, 6.2), Leon Crosswhite (307, 4.4), Joe Wylie (296, 7.0), Roy Bell (224, 6.1) and Tim Welch (174, 8.3). Even placekicker John Carroll has carried twice-for 46 yards.

Pruitt 185.5 yards per game and Cornell's Ed Marinaro 205.2 are engaged in the most prolific ground-gaining race in major college history. Both are well ahead of the season record of 174.0 set by San Francisco's Ollie Matson in 1951. And Marinaro needs only eight yards to shatter the 3,867 career record of Oklahoma's Steve Owens.

BOOSTER OFFICERS

New officers for the Youngsville Sports Boosters include President Bill Sandberg, left, and secretary-treasurer John McKinney. The booster organization plans to operate on a $1200 budget to assist the Eagles' athletic program, and will meet again on Thursday, Nov. 4, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 106 of the high school. PRO FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Raiders, Chiefs Renew Bitter Football Rivalry

By KAROL STONGER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Oakland Raiders and Kansas City Chiefs renew their bitter rivalry Sunday and, as usual, there's more at stake than just another National Football League victory.

The perennial powerhouses put identical 5-1 records and the American Conference West lead on the line in their 23rd regular season clash.

Kansas City's Len Dawson, the AFC's No. 1 passer, again will be aiming for Otis Taylor, the conference's No. 2 receiver, and Daryle Lamonica is expected to call signals for the Raiders. But if his injured hand fails him George Blanda will be ready.

The host Raiders hope to widen their 11-10-1 margin over the Chiefs—who have won only three of the last 10 regular season meetings.In other Sunday games, Minnesota visits the New York Giants, Cincinnati is at Houston, Dallas at Chicago, New Orleans at Washington, New York Jets at San Diego, St. Louis at Buffalo, Miami at Los Angeles, Atlanta at Cleveland, Pittsburgh at Baltimore, New England at San Francisco and Denver at Philadelphia.

Detroit plays Green Bay at Milwaukee Monday night (ABC 9 p.m. EST) with Greg Landry expected to call signals as he did three weeks ago when he passed for four touchdowns in the Lions' 31-28 victory over the Packers.

The injury riddled Giants may be boosted by the return of Ron Johnson and Tucker Frederickson but they'll be going against the National Conference's No. 2 defense and bitter memories of the Vikings' last visit to Yankee Stadium—a 24-23 upset in the 1969 season opener. Minnesota leads the NFC Central Division with a 5-1 record.

Third-string quarterback Dave Lewis is expected to start in place of injured Ken Anderson for Cincinnati as the Bengals seek their second victory of the season and Houston its first.

Another third-string quarterback, Bobby Douglas, who made a successful season debut last week against Detroit, will start for Chicago while Roger Staubach and Craig Morton alternate on each play called from the bench by Dallas Coach Tom Landry. Washington, leading the Cowboys by one game in the NFC East, tries to get back on the winning trail with Boyd Dowler filling in for wide receiver Charley Taylor who broke his ankle against Kansas City last week. The Saints probably will go with Edd Hargett at quarterback while Archie Manning nurses pulled a leg muscle.

The Jets and San Diego take 2-4 records into the American Conference game which was to have been Joe Namath's season debut when optimism was high that his knee would be sturdy again.

Buffalo will be seeking its first victory in 13 tries in its first meeting ever with St. Louis. The Cards, 0-6 this season will be quarterbacked by Jim Hart if Pete Beathard's bruised right shoulder isn't better.

The Los Angeles-Miami game shapes up as a tough ground game with Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick combining for the Dolphins and Willie Ellison and Les Josephson running for the Rams.

Cleveland, reeling from its first regular season shutout in 21 years, will try to retain its AFC central lead when they face Atlanta and Dick Shiner, who will quarterback in place of ailing Bob Berry.

Baltimore, seeking to rebound after Monday night's tough loss to Minnesota, will also try to get back atop the AFC East when it plays the Steelers, who haven't won a road game all season.

Patriot rookie quarterback Jim Plunkett will return to his college stomping grounds in the Bay area for a meeting with another Stanford graduate, veteran John Brodie of San Francisco. And Philadelphia, which broke a five-game losing streak against the Giants last week, goes against Denver.

Edinboro Seeks 7th Straight Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Westminster and Edinboro State, neck and neck in the race for top ranking in NAIA Division II, lay their unbeaten streaks on the line this weekend.

Westminster, 5-0, visits John Carroll, 4-1, while Edinboro, 6-0, hosts Shippensburg, 2-4.

In last week's Division II poll, defending champion Westminster held first place with 149 points, followed by Edinboro with 144.

Westminster has won 20 straight, including last Saturday's 13-10 come from behind win over Heidelberg.

Edinboro has won 19 straight regular season games, excluding a post-season loss to Westminster in the semifinals of the NAIA playoffs in 1970.

Western Pennsylvania's only other unbeaten small college team, Geneva, 6-0, is off to its best start since 1930 and will visit Ursinus this Saturday.

Other games: Thiel, 3-3, at Allegheny 3-3; California State, 1-5, at Clarion, 4-2; Carnegie-Mellon, 3-3, at Washington; Grove City, 4-2, at Itaca, 4-2; IUP, 5-1 at Wilkes; Lock Haven, 4-2, at Mansfield, 2-4; Waynesburg, 1-5, at Slippery Rock, 4-2, and Juniata and Washington & Jefferson, 4-2.

Peek 'N Mountain Open House Sunday

Management of Peek'n Mountain Ski Resort located just off Route 6 at Youngsville, has announced plans for open house events on three consecutive Sunday afternoons. October 31, November 7, and November 14, between the hours of 1:00 to 5:00 p.m., the staff of this resort will be on hand to answer questions, serve customers at their ski shop, sell season tickets and to bring visitors up to date on the developments of this past summer. Developments include refinements and major renovations to the facilities. Free coffee, cider and donuts will be served on Sunday October 31.

This season will mark the second for Peek'n Mountain under the present management. Peek'n Peak Recreation, Inc. of Clymer, New York is the owner-operator.

Peek'n Mountain, because of its 579 feet of vertical fall and natural bowl-like formation, offers great variety in skiing terrain and provides a real challenge to skiers in the tri-state area. Peek'n Mountain offers complete facilities: day lodge, cafeteria dining, ski school, ski shop and rental department.

Two of the major improvements in facilities completed for this season are snowmaking and lift capacity. The giant snowmaking system installed last year has been improved and expanded to produce one of the most sophisticated in this section of the country. In addition to covering more of the skiing area, new compressors have been installed that are quieter operating and more efficient. A new 1400 feet Hall double T-Bar has been installed on the right side of the complex making more easily accessable an area to skiers who wish the ultimate in challenge. The new T-Bar begins at the disembarking point of the rope tow and extends to the upper right side of the mountain. This brings the total number of lifts to four which serve the complex.

Work on buildings and grounds, including the slopes, has taken place this summer resulting in improvements both in appearance and skiable surface.

Also new for this season will be new operating hours. The new schedule includes the five days and nights, Wednesday through Sunday night, that most skiers prefer.

Asa Wilcox, new general Manager of Peek'n Mountain, is anxious to meet skiers and non-skiers and make them welcome to the resort area.

Trevino's Hot Golf Leads Chilly Event

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Lee Trevino, wearing a golf glove on each hand to protect against biting cold and blustery winds, matched par-72 Friday and surged into the second round lead in the $135,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament.

"Ain't I colorful?" quipped Trevino, holding up his hands, covered with one orange glove and one black.

Trevino, in a slump since his sweep of the American, Canadian and British open crowns three months ago, had a 36-hole total of 141, three under par on the chilled and wind-swept Paradise Valley Country Club course.

He was one stroke ahead of first-round leader Bob Dickson, who slipped to a 74 for a 142.

Bert Yancey, Kermit Zarley, Don January and Labron Harris followed at 143, the only other players in the field of 144 able to break par after two days of play in the most severe weather conditions on the pro tour this year.

Zarley had one of the few subpars rounds of the day, a 70. Harris took a 71 and Yancey had a 72. January, a 42-year-old former PGA champion, also had a 72.

Don Bies had the day's best round, a three-under-par 69,

Lions, Packers Install Special Cardiac Units

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

The Detroit Lions and Green Bay Packers are installing special cardiac units in a move to prevent such tragedies as the death on the field last week of a Lions football player.

Meanwhile, a nationwide survey of The Associated Press showed a variance of medical precautions being taken by pro and college football teams to meet emergencies.

Most of them are geared for the fans since the incidence of death in the stands is far greater than in gridiron combat. There have been only six injury-related deaths in pro football. Countless excited fans have died from heart attack.

Chuck Hughes, 28, a wide receiver for the Lions, collapsed and died last Sunday in the closing seconds of the game at Detroit's Tiger Stadium, won by the Chicago Bears 28-23.

His death was ruled due to a clot, cutting off the flow of blood in a main artery already severely constricted by a hardening of the arteries.

At the time there was criticism—disputed by medical authorities—that the death might have been averted if a defibrillator had been available. A defibrillator is a machine that shocks hearts back into regular rhythm.

The Lions announced Friday that a special cardiac unit, including such a machine, would be available at field side at all future Lions games, on the road and even in airplane flights.

The unit will contain treatment facilities, auxiliary equipment and technicians.

The Packers said a similar intensive care unit would be installed at the Milwaukee County Stadium Monday night.

Warren Co. Market Value Changes

HARRISBURG —Warren County rather consistently over the space of the past decade has been above the statewide average in the percentage of assessed valuation of taxable property in the county to the so-called market value, records of the State Tax Equalization Board indicated yesterday.

(The market values certified each year by the state tax board are used as the base for state reimbursement to local school districts.)

For example, the State Tax Equalization Board in its certification for the past year lists the average percentage of assessed valuation to the market value in Warren County as 52.2 percent—as compared with the statewide average of 42.0 per cent.

The market value certified by the state tax board for the county for the past year was $172,903,000.

Within the space of the past 10 years the market value for the county has gradually climbed while the percentage of assessed valuation to market value inched downward, as follows:

A decade ago in 1960 Warren County's market value was certified as $112,481,000 with the assessed valuation to market value for the county set at 64.7 per cent (as against the statewide average that year of 42.3 per cent.)

Two years later in 1962 Warren County's market value was certified at $123,104,000 with an assessed valuation to market value for the county of 61.1 per cent (average for the state as a whole: 43.3 per cent).

Jumping another two years to 1964, the county's market valuation had increased to $129,543,000 for a percentage score of 59.5 per cent (43.1 per cent statewide).

Continuing the two-year interval span, by 1966 Warren County's market value certification had increased to $140,725,000 while the percentage of assessed valuation to market value was pegged at 57.7 per cent, with the statewide average that year 42.9 per cent.

The following year, 1967, the county's market value was pegged at $144,676,000 with a percentage rating of 57.5 (as against the average for the state that year of 42.9).

By 1968 the market value for Warren County had climbed to $156,146,000 with the percent of assessed valuation of taxable property in the county at 54.9 per cent (42.8 per cent statewide).

The following year, 1969, saw the market value for the county at $160,649,000 with an assessed valuation to market value of 54.7 per cent (and a statewide average of 43.3 per cent)—which compares with the already noted tally for 1970 of $172,903,000 in market value and a percentage of assessed valuation to market value of 52.2 per cent.

Why the changes? Various factors combine to influence this such as properties going on or off the tax rolls, annexations and mergers, changing local economic conditions and adjustments for other new data, according to the board.

4 Area Funeral Directors Honored

Four area men were among seven veteran funeral directors honored at a testimonial dinner on October 20 by the Tri-County Association of Funeral Directors, at the Holiday Inn, Bradford, Pa. The Association covers Warren, Elk and McKean counties.

Fritz A. Schoonover of Sugar Grive, Leo D. Gibson of Warren, Earl E. Young of Youngsville and R. N. McDonald of Marienville were the local men honored for their long service in their profession—the "forgotten profession," it was called by Griffith A. Herold, a Bradford attorney, in a keynote address.

With Lawrence Gallup of Port Allegany, Otho B. Chatley of Bradford, and Harold Lee of Smethport, they were accorded a standing ovation. The seven had a total of 294 years in the business of funeral directing.

Mr. Schoonover was the doyen of the group. He retired last April after a career spanning 67 years, begun in 1905 in Port Allegany, and continued since 1914 in Sugar Grove. His son, Burt A. Schoonover, became a partner with him in 1965. Last spring, Edward Collins of Warren bought the business, now known as the Schoonover-Collins funeral home.

Both Burt Schoonover and Edward Collins were among those attending the banquet. And so was Mrs. F. A. Schoonover. For the elder Schoonovers it was a doubly happy occasion—their 62nd wedding anniversary. They were given a special round of applause, and Donald E. McKinney, director of the McKinney funeral home in Youngsville, presented Mrs. Schoonover with a floral arrangement. Mr. McKinney, secretary of the Tri-county Association for nine years, was acting president, in the absence of the president, Henry Howard of Mount Jewett.

Reminiscing, Mr. Schoonover was able to remind one of the other veteran funeral directors, Lawrence Gallup, that "I used to be your babysitter." When he was seventeen, Mr. Schoonover began to work after school and on Saturdays in the furniture store and allied undertaking business operated in Port Allegany by the late Glenn Gallup, to earn board, room and laundry. Sometimes the boss would call on Fritz Schoonover to keep an eye on his 2-year-old son, Lawrence.

Lawrence eventually became his father's partner, selling the business only recently to an associate, Frank Switzer. He has operated an ambulance service in Port Allegany for 42 years.

Another of Mr. Schoonover's memories of his Port Allegany days is the Austin Flood, September 30, 1911, when for two weeks he helped take care of the bodies of the 84 victims.

"Nate" McDonald, born in a Forest County lumber camp, in 1900, still operates the McDonald Funeral Home in Marienville, which he started in 1933 after education and experience gained in Tionesta, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Detroit (Mich.) and Elizabeth (N.J.)

Leo D. Gibson is also still in business, at 304 East street, Warren, where he has been established since 1932. He recalls that when he first was licensed and opened up, in 1925, it was two months before he received a call, and he was glad to do odd jobs such as pressing for a dry cleaner!

For several years Mrs. Gibson was his assistant, and he looks forward now to being joined by his son, Thomas, who is completing his professional education.

Earl E. Young went to work for the Youngsville undertaker, the late H. H. Hull, when he was 17, earned his professional qualifications in 1923, became manager of the Hull enterprise when its owner died in 1931, acquired the business, and an associated furniture store, in 1944. A nephew, Rex Young, now operates the furniture store. Donald McKinney, an employe for 14 years, bought the funeral business when Mr. Young retired in 1962, and now operates it under his own name.

James L. Hays, of Bradford, was general chairman for the banquet. Several funeral directors from outside the area were among the large group attending.

Market Scores Clear-Cut Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — A late spurt carried the stock market Friday to its first clear-cut gain in more than two weeks.

The major averages closed with small gains and advances topped declines among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

The averages had edged ahead Thursday for the first time in 12 sessions, but gainers trailed losers on the Big Board.

Wall Street analysts said there were no developments to account for the mild turnaround and expressed the opinion that the day's performance was merely a technical move.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed with a gain of 1.38 at 839.00 after having been in the minus column until the last half-hour. It had edged up 1.24 Thursday after having lost a total of 15.99 points in the three previous sessions.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks moved up 0.20 to 52.07. The Associated Press 60-stock average rose .8 to 308.6 with industrials up .5, rails up .8 and utilities up .3.

Gainers stayed ahead of losers all through the session and would up with a margin of 791 to 540 among 1,642 issues traded on the NYSE. But new 1971 lows outstripped new highs by 88 to 7.

Big Board volume tumbled to 11.71 million shares from 15.53 million Thursday.

Big block trades—10,000 shares or more—contracted to 90 from 118 Thursday on the NYSE.

The biggest transactions were 218,700 shares of Kennecott, 175,900 of Stokley-Van Camp, 115,500 of Alcoa, 103,400 of Martin Marietta, and 97,200 of Damon Corp.

Motors, rubber issues, electronics, utilities and drugs were mostly higher.

Fairchild Camera, which slumped 8⅝ Thursday on a gloomy profits report, regained 2⅛ at 24⅝.

The American Stock Exchange's price-change index rose .11 to 24.61. Gains led losses by 493 to 311 among 1,107 issues traded. Volume dwindled to 2.9 million shares from 3.83 million Thursday.

THE 'NEW' VOTERS

These students at Warren Campus of Edinboro State College are among many thousands of 18, 19 and 20-year-olds who will be eligible to go to the voting polls for the first time in the Municipal Election Monday, November 2nd. Pull out the four-page Voters Guide in this section for a look at the state and major local candidates. (Photo by Mel Mansfield).

PUBLIC INVITED

Warren Campus Open House Sunday Afternoon

By BOB CLEVER

Warren County college-bound students are overlooking what has been described as a "real bargain" in higher education by not considering the new Warren Campus of Edinboro State College.

The public is invited to an open house Sunday, October 31, from 2 to 5 p.m., to see the place where students can get a quality two-year education at considerably less cost than at any other two-year institution.

Not only is the branch campus growing but it is increasing in stature as the mother campus more and more becomes recognized as an outstanding institution of higher learning.

The 190-acre site on Rt. 62 north of Warren (formerly the Farm Colony of Warren State Hospital) is also an ecological wonderland, featuring a stream and bottom land, flood plains, wooded mountainsides and a 40-acre plateau.

Better facilities are now available; there is a greater variety of activities; an expanding curriculum meets the needs of today's students and there is an exceptionally well-qualified faculty.

Visitors will have an opportunity to meet the faculty which includes three members who have their doctorates and six who are working toward that honor. Of the 17 members, two are full professors, four are associate professors and seven are assistant professors. The minimum requirement for admittance to the faculty is a master's degree plus 10 hours.

Faculty members hold degrees from the University of Kansas, State University of Buffalo, Case Institute, Penn State, Catholic University of America, Syracuse University and numerous others.

A total of 8,000 volumes of reference books and 125 periodicals are available in the modern library for research work.

Non-degree students may take up to 30 hours of work there. This work may at a later date be applied to a degree.

Six major programs of study are offered toward a bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degree, including all the courses required for the first two years of a secondary and elementary teaching degree.

Thirty-six courses are now being offered.

Next semester, Introduction to Fiction and Introduction to Drama will be added in a program designed to give students a broader and more flexible program of general education.

Other new courses include Geography of United States and Canada, Informal Geometry and Introduction to International Relations.

It is hoped that Introduction to Comparative Government will be offered as well as Adolescent and Child Psychology.

There are 13 classrooms on campus, including a biology lab and a physical science lab. A chemistry lab is planned for next year.

MODERN LIBRARY

The shelves of the modern library is well-lined with 8,000 reference books. Students and faculty have access to 125 periodicals. Miss Margaret McCutchen, the librarian, here helps a student locate a book. (Photo by Clever)

RELAXED ATMOSPHERE

There is a relaxed atmosphere in the well-lighted, airy classrooms in the main building. Also housed there is the library, student and faculty lounge, administrative offices and faculty offices, on the third floor. Here, Thomas Walsh lectures a psychology class. Walsh is director of student services and administration and is an assistant professor. (Photo by Clever) lounge in the main building with facilities for games, relaxation and snacks.

STUDENT LOUNGE

Adjacent to the main building there is an administration building which houses the offices of the director administrative and the resident custodian.

The college has its own water supply and is connected to the state hospital sewage system. There is ample parking space in the newly-paved parking lot, and bus service is provided.

Student activities include the Warren Campus Theater designed to bring representatives of all the arts to the students and the community.

Students publish a year book, "Penon". There is a basketball and golf team and a student government association.

It is anticipated that next semester there will be a volunteer group who will work with local mental health groups and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Warren Campus students participate in a unique tutoring program at Beaty Junior High School. They publish a student newspaper, "Voice of the Colony."

The Pennsylvania State Education Association student chapter is one of the most active organizations on campus.

Plans are to take advantage of the natural phenomena and form an Ecology group which could use the entire 190-acre site as their outdoor classroom.

Frank Johnson, the administrative director, help found Warren Campus in 1962 and is convinced that the only direction Warren Campus can go is forward. He was previously a teacher in Warren County Schools for seven years.

"We certainly appreciated the years we were privileged to use the school district property on East Street," Johnson said, "but we were 'locked in' there. We had to find more space or we would have jeopardized the future of higher learning in Warren County."

Johnson said that Warren County is privileged to have a campus affiliated with Edinboro State College because there simply will be no additional branch campuses created—all future campuses must be community colleges.

Although there is the physical room to expand to a four-year program, Johnson said it is unlikely that this will happen, particularly in the forseeable future.

The next step, he said, is to provide housing for students.

He said that the erection of housing will be constructed on campus. Presently, the General Services Administration must construct all buildings on state lands.

"The future of Warren Campus will primarily be controlled by the support it receives from Warren County students who attend the first two years of college here—a good two years and at a tremendous savings," Johnson said.

The college was founded as Warren Extension in September, 1962, and met for classes at Warren Area High School. It moved to East Street in 1964 and then to its present location at 1735 Market st. ext. in August, 1971.

PARKING AND BUS SERVICE

Since the two-year college is now a commuter campus, ample parking space is provided on a paved lot and bus service to town is also available.

Alaskan Missionary To Speak At Bethlehem Covenant Church

Mrs. Louise Matson, who has served as a missionary to Alaska, is to speak at special missionary services at the Bethlehem Covenant Church this weekend, according to the Rev. Paul Webster, pastor of the local church.

Mrs. Matson first went to Alaska in 1947 as a missionary under the Evangelical Covenant Church of America. In her most recent assignment in that state, she served as a house parent and counselor at the Covenant Children's Home at White Mountain.

After the death of her husband in 1969, she returned to the "lower 48". She is now traveling on behalf of the Evangelical Covenant Church's Mission Department, representing its work in seven countries as well as in the state of Alaska.

MRS. LOUISE MATSON

Mrs. Matson is a graduate of North Park Junior College in Chicago. She is a member of the Beulah Covenant Church in Turlock, California.

Women of the community are invited to a special meeting to be held Friday afternoon at 2 p.m., followed by refreshments in the church parlors. Saturday evening a panel discussion is to be held on various phases of mission work. The vesper service on Sunday at 4:30 p.m. is expected to be of special interest to those interested in the work of missions.

The public is invited to attend any or all of the services.

Revival Crusade Week At Free Methodist Church

Next week is to be Revival Crusade week at the Free Methodist Church of Warren, 135 Conewango Avenue, according to Pastor J. L. Wheeler.

Services are to be held Monday, Nov. 1 thru Sunday, Nov. 7, with guest speaker and singer Rev. Gerald Watson of Ashtabula, Ohio. Other special talent is to assist Rev. Watson.

The public has been invited to the Revival Crusade. Services are to be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday nights, and at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 7.

United Methodist To Dedicate Christian Education Building In Russell Sunday Afternoon

Mortgage burning ceremony and dedication service for the new Christian Education Building at United Methodist Church in Russell are to be held October 31 at 3 p.m.

The Trustees are to give the history of the construction of the building and conduct the Mortgage Burning Ceremony.

The Rev. J. Robert Gray, Superintendent of the Kane District of the United Methodist Church is to bring the address and conduct the Dedication Service.

The adult, youth, and children's choirs are to participate in the service. Refreshments will be served following the service.

Ground breaking ceremonies were held April 12, 1964 during the time when Rev. Arthur Hummell was pastor. The building was built by Donald Locker as contractor and was completed in 1964. Consecration services were held in the fall of 1964, when the church school began meeting in the building.

The mortgage was satisfied some time ago. Many contributions are still being received and are being used for landscaping and otherwise improving the property.

The building consists of fourteen large rooms for classes, including a conference room, pastor's study and office space. It is also used by Girl Scouts and Brownies on Monday and Tuesday afternoons. Several other organizations use the building for their meetings.

DuBois Senior Citizen Home To Be Dedicated Sunday

Bishop Alfred M. Watson, D.D. is to preside at formal dedication ceremonies for the New Christ The King Manor in DuBois Sunday, Oct. 31, starting at 3 p.m. The dedication of the Home for Senior Citizens will mark the second such ceremony this year in the Catholic Diocese of Erie. A month ago, the Sharon Home was dedicated.

The program Sunday marks the completion of a project that began 18 months ago.

The Manor is to provide a home for the senior citizens of the Diocese and offers a full program to meet the spiritual, physical, mental and social needs of its residents. A full activities program offers the resident full value for his time each day and is directed towards the preventative health of the person.

Christ The King Manor is not a nursing home but one where intermediate care can be given. It offers the security so vital and so urgently needed by our elderly citizens, along with protection, health services and proper supervision. The 80 bed residency units also have a twenty bed infirmary unit to serve the needs of the residents.

Administrator of the facility is Sr. Mary Therese Dush of the Sisters of Mercy of Erie. Applications are available from any Pastor of any Parish in the Diocese, where the annual Charities campaign has been conducted to provide the new home.

TAKE OFFS ON PUT-ONS

Sew up some good things, then put your mark on them: a wild extra to iron on from a transfer pattern and trim at whim. All the extras are giant-size—a big "eye" smack in the middle of a wool jersey top, a colossal midi-length "tie" on a long-sleeved dress, huge "buttons" appliqued on a wrap skirt and a larger-than-life "necklace" on a demin dress.

Rev. Harold R. Waite Named Wesleyan Church District Superintendent

During the annual conference of the Western Pennsylvania District of the Wesleyan Church, the Rev. Harold R. Waite was elected to the office of District Superintendent. The district consists of 45 churches.

The Western Pennsylvania District is bordered by the Susquehanna River on the East and the Ohio border (with one church in Cleveland, Ohio), on the West. The Erie church is the farthest Wesleyan church to the North. The churches in the Pittsburgh area are those farthest South.

Reverend Waite is well known in this area having pastored the Falconer, N. Y. Wesleyan Methodist Church for 10 years. Reverend Waite was called to pastor the Wesleyan church in Flemington, Pa. in 1968. He had pastored that church until his election to the Superintendent's office in July.

Reverend Waite is now residing in Garland, Pa. His address is R.D. 2, Pittsfield, Pa. Phone 814-563-7570. Reverend Waite has been in the ministry for nearly 41 years. He is well known for his evangelistic meetings throughout the United States.

The Wesleyan church was formed by the merger of the Wesleyan Methodist Church and the Pilgrim Holiness Church, on July 26, 1968.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

My mother made up this poem to get my dad enthused about housecleaning. I don't think it helped much, but I think it's cute. It goes: to the human race.

This place is a disgrace
If we want to save face, we must clean up this place.

Daughter

DEAR FOLKS:

Maraschino cherries are rather expensive if you are on a tight budget. After they are eaten . . . what to do with the juice?

I learned to put it in that boxed whipped cream topping in place of that cold milk. Talk about something tasty? Real yummy.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You've spoken out in defense of waitresses, hotel maids, truck drivers, police officers, telephone operators, hairdressers, typesetters, carrier boys, salespeople and school teachers. But you have never printed one word in defense of box-office cashiers. I hope you will do so today.

I work for a theater in Schenectady. I enjoy my job and want to do it well. As a box-office cashier I try to give courteous service, correct change, and the correct number of tickets. Please tell your readers that the girl in the glass cage does not set the prices or the show time. She is not responsible for the mistake in the newspaper which printed the wrong time. Nor is it her fault that you tried two parking lots and they were both full, so you are missing the first fifteen minutes of the movie.

Also tell your readers that the cashier is not responsible for the rating system, so don't yell at her if you are under 18 and she can't sell you a ticket to an X-rated film. And, if the picture was lousy, it's not her fault. She didn't direct it. Thank you, Ann.—BILLIE DEUX

DEAR BILLIE: Thank YOU. Your letter brought back some warm memories: My father owned theaters, and guess who sat in the box office and sold tickets after school one summer? Yup, and I know what you mean.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just read the letter from the lousy driver with the high blood pressure. It seems she thought it was terrible that anyone should criticize her driving, yet she took up three parking spaces and deprived two other people of their lawful right.

I sit in the front window of an office where I am a receptionist. I can look out the window and see what goes on across the street where there is a coin-operated laundry. All day long I see idiots double park because they are too lazy to parallel park. I also see them pull their front wheels up on the sidewalk so they won't have to park properly. I honestly believe that these crocks do not know how to park a car. So don't knock that person who places "instructional" information under the windshield wipers of lousy parkers. I think he (or she) should get a medal for public service.—GARDEN CITY DRIVER WHO KNOWS HOW TO PARK

DEAR DRIVER: They say every knock is a boost. I am printing this because I know a lot of lousy drivers will see it and think about it the next time they do a miserable (and inconsiderate) job of parking. Now—aren't you sorry you yelled at me?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife's 27-year-old brother is a cheap bum. When we moved to this apartment Jerry had his leg in a cast so my wife gave him a key because this place is near Jerry's office and it was easier for him to sleep here a few nights a week.

The bum has been out of the cast for three months but he still uses the key to let himself in when we aren't home. We've walked in and found him sitting in my bathrobe, smoking my cigars, drinking my Scotch and wearing out the tubes in our color TV. Sometimes he has a girl friend here.

Is there a tactful way to tell the moocher we've had it? My wife says she will do as you say because you are objective and fair.—FED UP

DEAR FED: The clod doesn't know anything about tact. Tell him you are changing the locks next week so his key will no longer fit. Then change them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Bless you for speaking out against bridal showers that soak everybody to the skin. I could have kissed you when I read that column.

I live in a small town where the same people get invited to everything. We just got through paying for the shower gifts and the wedding present, and here comes an ad in the paper: "BABY SHOWER. EVERYBODY WELCOME." Now, I ask you, is this nerve? After helping to furnish the bride's home we are asked to dress her kid. What is the matter with these people that they can't see it?

In between the bridal shower and the baby announcement is an invitation to a tea in honor of the parents' 25th wedding anniversary. Then the little brother graduates from high school and we have to send a fountain pen. Am I the only person besides you who believes this is terrible? Please set my mind at ease. Sometimes I think I'm a little goofy on the subject. — PARTY-POOPED AND PICKEY-POCKET-POOR

DEAR PP AND PP: We aren't alone. I received a raft of letters from women who feel the same way. I'll repeat my advice. These grabby gimmicks will continue so long as women accept invitations. The only solution is a boycott after one shower. And I suggest a $3 gift-limit.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to ask Pittsburgh Reader who is uptight because his secretary calls him by his first name, what does he call her?

I am a mature woman and a college graduate who works as a secretary. Most of the men in this office call all women by their first names. Some even refer to their secretaries as "the girl."

Any man who dislikes being called by his first name can easily prevent it by calling his secretary by her last name. — Call Me Mrs.

Dear Mrs.: I checked with several secretaries of executives in Chicago and only one secretary felt as you do. The overwhelming majority preferred to be called by their first names, even though they would not call the boss by his.

Did You Know

(A Service Of Family Service)

. . .by Jim Krider, executive director of Family Service & Children's Aid Society of Warren County, a private, non-profit, family counseling agency supported in part by your United Fund.

"About Booze"

Most of us notice behavior at the surface, but we don't usually have a chance to see what the cause - and-effect pattern is. This should be said: the behavior pattern is ALWAYS logical, no matter how strange it may appear to the casual observer with only a part of the story. Alcohol, for example, is often misused as a "safety valve" for the person's pressurized internal frustrations.

Let me tell you a story. Once upon a time there was a man whose family told him he would never amount to anything, and treated him as if they really believed it. This happened because they were unhappy, and needed a scapegoat and a "buffer". The fellow had a doting mother and a father who was never emotionally available. He grew up quite unsure of himself. He held his feelings in, because he had quite literally never "learned" to trust others. However, since his needs for human kindness were the same as everyone else's down deep, he would often become very lonely. And he grew accustomed to using alcohol to serve as "first aid" for these feelings, to temporarily "forget" them.

After he married a girl with a similarly poor view of herself (as usually happens), he found himself unable to trust her with his most basic emotional needs. In fact, he spoke very little with her. After all, he had never trusted anybody.

Instead, he drank. The longer he went around frustrated about not being able to share warm OR angry feelings with his wife, the greater became his destructive rampages when he drank. And he lost jobs, too, because of his drinking.

You could say that the alcohol MADE this fellow fight with his wife and lose jobs — but in truth, it ALLOWED him to fight and lose jobs. For he had been afraid to confront his wife in little disagreements. He had also become increasingly uncomfortable with the thought of holding a decent job, since to do so went directly against the lesson he had learned so thoroughly from his parents — that he would never amount to anything.

Not until he realized the logic of these cause-and-effect patterns did he have a key with which to solve his puzzle. With help, he was able to become more sure of himself and more appropriately assertive so that the home and job pressures decreased. He no longer needed the artificial and destructive safety valve of heavy drinking to temporarily alleviate the built-up pressures of poor marriage communication and a job he felt he didn't deserve.

All human behavior makes sense. The tough part is getting "tuned in" to the system operating, a part of which is often hidden.

Helping people to find the logic and cure of destructive behavior patterns is one of the many services of your Family Service agency.(c) 1971 by James W. Krider, Jr.

When The Leaves Come Tumbling Down

Leaves that have withstood the buffeting of summer gales and pelting rains may come tumbling down on a bright October day when not a breeze stirs. It is as if the tree itself, with invisible fingers, were busily engaged in disrobing by plucking a leaf here, and a handful of leaves there. They flutter to earth like gay butterflies suddenly stricken in mid-flight, their "wings" flaunting all the subtle shades of the rainbow.

Long before the leaf falls, nature has been at work preparing it for disengagement from the twig that has held it aloft since early spring. When the work of the leaf is over, the cells at the base of the leaf stalk begin to divide. A delicate layer of cells, which becomes the separating layer, forms across the end of the leaf stalk. Some of the cells of the separating layer may become changed into cork cells. Other cells may become rounded off so that water may collect in the intercellular spaces. Now, the leaf is perched precariously upon its twig, for the separating layer of cells offers little support. If the leaf hasn't already come tumbling down before a heavy frost has hit, the water in the intercellular spaces of the separating layer will freeze and expand when frost does strike. When this happens, the remaining tissue at the base of the leaf stem ruptures and the leaves may fall in great showers in the morning after a heavy frost.

As has been so well demonstrated this autumn, when frosts have been practically unknown throughout Kinzua Country, frost plays no part in triggering the subtle chemistry of fall coloration. In fact, heavy frosts sound the death knell of "flaming foliage" by hastening the stripping of the leaves from the trees. Seldom have we had such a long period of magnificent fall coloration as we have enjoyed in October in Warren County this year. The lack of high winds, heavy frost, and rainfall of the violent type, have been some of the reasons why the leaves have retained their bright colors and have clung so long to the trees.

Often in the summer, I have observed typical "fall coloring" on a single branch or two of a tree. And in time premature leaf fall occurs, for a separating layer of cells has formed at the base of each leaf stalk just as it does prior to leaf fall in the autumn on healthy trees. Apparently lack of nutriment has something to do with this early transformation of the leaves on the affected branch.

On logging jobs carried out in the summer the trees that are to be felled have no advance warning that they are doomed. The tops left in the woods, after the logs have been removed, still retain most of their foliage well into the winter months when heavy snows cover the ground. The leaves are withered and brown, but they hang on tenaciously because a separating layer of specialized cells has never formed at the base of each leaf stalk.

Those who find the deciduous forests depressing looking after the trees have shed their leaves in the fall of the year should realize that the casting off of the leaves is necessary if the trees are to endure the severe winters that prevail.

Winter is a time of drought. And only the conifers—pine, hemlock, and spruce—with their specialized needle-like leaves are equipped to survive the winters with their foliage intact.

Much of our early spring vegetation profits from the leafless condition of our forest trees. Spring beauties, jack-in-the-pulpits, and other early plants complete most of their growth before the leaves come out full in the forest trees to shade them out.

Conversational Counselling And Compost

By Bernie Wingert, County Agent

Every once in a while little problems keep coming along so fast a person wonders if they will never end. Take last weekend and the beginning of this one for example.

First the toaster quit toasting sometime ago; then on Saturday the washer started leaking water all over the floor; the next day the dryer quit drying; the new tape recorder at the office quit on Monday afternoon, and the TV would give forth neither audio nor visual signals. It was busted again! My wife's car had just been returned from the body repair shop and the cat was walking all over it with muddy feet, besides chewing up a rodent of some kind and leaving pieces on the hood.

I sat down to take stock of the situation, My first solution was perhaps the best . . ."Oh that I had wings like a dove! for then would I fly away and be at rest."

By Wednesday things were looking up. I had swapped the tape recorder for a working unit. The repairman fixed the TV in less than half a day. The store agreed to send the washer and dryer man before all the clothes were ready to be laundered again. A good retired friend had fixed the toaster, and the cat was chewing up another mouse only this time on the garage floor. Again I sat down to meditate. Ah, the great philosophy that comes to mind . . . "The greatest object in the universe, says a certain philosopher is a good man struggling with adversity; yet there is a still greater, which is the good man that comes to relieve it" . . . And I suppose that's about all the baloney I should ask you to take in one day.

Another kind of "object" which everyone who travels on a highway needs to know about is the SLOW MOVING VEHICLE EMBLEM. Not only the operators of tractors and other slow moving pieces of equipment need to be informed about this emblem, but everyone who drives a car needs to learn to recognize it.

It's simply a triangular yellow-orange and red reflective emblem which means "SLOW DOWN" driver, this is a slow moving vehicle ahead of you!

It will be showing up from now on, on any piece of machinery with a maximum speed of 25 miles per hour or less whenever such a vehicle is traveling on a public highway. The sign will be as near the center of the machine as possible, and from 2 to 6 feet above the ground.

The new law which will be enforced in December is an amendment to the Commonwealth Vehicle Code, and covers all slow moving vehicles including ROAD MAINTENANCE and FARM equipment.

This law also spells out improper uses and provides for penalties if you don't obey it. The triangular yellow-orange and red emblem may not be used as a clearance marker on any equipment or on any stationary object. Here's some places where it better well NOT be used: as a driveway marker, hanging from a chain or cable closing a road, as a marker on the end of an overhanging load, and as a clearance marker on a wide load such as a bulldozer blade or perhaps on a combine header. In the case of the combine the emblem would of course be required on the rear of the combine, but would be illegal if attached to the outer edges of the header.

The ability of any driver to recognize this emblem on the highway could mean saving a terrifically bad rear end collision.

One final bit about this new attention attracting sign. It does not replace lighting devices, flags, and such items required by law. It's an additional item to help drivers realize there's a slow moving something ahead.

QUESTION ASKED CANDIDATES: Do you favor increasing local school taxes or cutting local school programs, to meet the agreed salary increases (if and when federal restrictions on the latter are lifted)? Please Explain.

REGION I
DEMOCRATIC

BERNARD J. HESSLEY —115 West St. Clair st., Warren, Pa. Age: 29.

EDUCATION: University of Notre Dame 1964, Bachelor of Arts—Political Science (Government); Georgetown University Law Center—1967, Juris Doctor.

OCCUPATION: Attorney

TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE: I believe my degree in Government and my experience as an attorney qualify me for the position of School Director on the Warren County School Board.

ANSWER TO QUESTION: I believe that salary increases can and must be met without a tax increase or a cut in school educational programs.

Warren County has one of the highest real estate tax rates in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The wage earner and the retiree on a fixed income can not be asked to pay more in taxes. At the present time, over 60 per cent of the real estate tax goes to the school district. In addition, the school district received a 1 per cent earned income tax, a 1 per cent realty transfer tax and a $5 occupational privilege tax.

The budget for the 1971-72 school year is in excess of $10.5 million. It is my position that cuts can be made in administrative expenses to meet the increased teachers salaries. Tax relief is possible by better planning and budget control.

REPUBLICAN

JOHN E. EBERLY Incumbent. 17 4th ave., Warren, Pa. Warren Boro. Age: 34

EDUCATION: Pennsylvania Military College, B.S. 1961; Western Reserve University, J.D. 1964.

OCCUPATION: Attorney at Law

TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE: Various management positions in the U.S. Army and three years on the School Board.

ANSWER TO QUESTION: I favor what we in fact did—cutting school programs, because I do not feel that the cuts we made affected the quality of the educational services offered. If quality were to be affected, I would favor increasing taxes. The best answer is to maintain a balance between cost and quality, and we have tried to do this by making people more responsible for their own costs. It has saved us considerable money, I am sure, and we have held the program to a much better level than we had thought possible.

THIS GUIDE MAY BE TAKEN INTO THE VOTING BOOTH

REGION II
DEMOCRATIC

MICHAEL J. SHANSHALA—100 Mohawk ave., Warren, Pa. Age: 32.

EDUCATION: BBA—St. Bonaventure University, 1963.

OCCUPATION: Personnel Supervisor, Pa. Gas Co.

TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE: My qualifications in general are threefold: 1. University Education; 2. Business experience; 3. Desire to serve the elected office.

ANSWER TO QUESTION: The Warren County School System should be operated as efficiently and effectively as possible with regard to the educational welfare of the students, the professional needs of staff personnel and with the interest of the taxpayer in mind. These three areas must share equal priority if we are to maintain a school system with dignity.

Should taxes be increased to meet recent salary increases? Should educational programs be curtailed or eliminated in order to meet recent salary increases? These two questions can only be answered by analyzing the entire school system operations and programs.

In the meantime, however, Warren County taxpayers have a right and a duty as residents of the county to resist and eliminate non-essential or wasteful operations and spending in the Warren County School System. Equally important, it's imperative that the taxpayer accept increased taxes when they are needed for non-extravagant financing of the school system.

REPUBLICAN

ROBERT S. JOHNSON—203 Pamela Drive, Warren, Pa. Age: 51.

EDUCATION: BS in Economics, Univ. of Pa., Philadelphia, Pa.

OCCUPATION: Real Estate Broker

TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE: I served for 5 yrs. on the Warren Area School Board.

ANSWER TO QUESTION: I actually favor neither increasing local school taxes or cutting back school programs. However, since the question calls for a choice, I would be in favor of cutting local school programs. In my opinion, local school taxes, at least for the present, have reached a point where they absolutely cannot be increased. I feel that the social and economic hardships that would be created by an increase in school taxes would be far greater than the detrimental effects of a reduced school program. In view of the economic situation in the nation and, in this case, specifically in Warren County, we must make do with the money we now have available. This may not be the most pleasant situation, but, in the absence of increased state or federal aid, it is a situation that we had better face up to.

REGION III
REPUBLICAN

(Unopposed)

RONNIE D. WELLER Incumbent. RD1, Tidioute, Pa. Age: 37

EDUCATION: Tidioute High School.

OCCUPATION: Insurance Consultant.

TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE: Accounting, personal finances and business planning.

ANSWER TO QUESTION: The taxes in Warren County have reached a plateau that must be levelled off. I feel very strongly on this issue. The school program must be reconstructed in proportion to the present tax dollars. When and if state reimbursements become larger, that will be the time for expanding the programs.

Warren Borough Council

Vote for One

Term of Office—4 years
Unsalaried

QUESTION ASKED CANDIDATES: What do you consider the first priorities for capital improvements in Warren Borough: Please Explain.

FIRST WARD
REPUBLICAN
(Unopposed)

W. BEYER AFRICA Incumbent. 215 Water st., Warren, Pa. Age: 57

EDUCATION: B.A. Allegheny College

OCCUPATION: Payroll Director, New Process Co.

TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE: Incumbent Councilman

ANSWER TO QUESTION: The two most immediate needs are, in my opinion, 1) a solution to our garbage disposal problem; 2) modernizing and upgrading of our traffic lights. Long-term priorities are the construction of a new central fire station, and centralized borough parks, streets and playground maintenance facilities, at one location—probably at the foot of Oak street.

THIRD WARD
REPUBLICAN
(Unopposed)

ROCKWELL O'SHEILL Incumbent 504 4th ave., Warren, Pa. Age:36.

EDUCATION: Univ. of Virginia Engineering School; Bachelor of Science, Gannon College; LLB Dickinson School of Law.

OCCUPATION: Attorney at Law with Blackman, Blackman & O'Sheill.

TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE: General accounting, engineering education and legal experience from 1959 to date. In addition, previous experience as a member of the Public Safety Committee of Warren Borough Council, member of Warren Borough Council Planning Committee and Chairman of Warren Borough Council Planning Committee and two (2) terms of office.

ANSWER TO QUESTION: The first priority is adoption of the Action Plan. Without that we cannot approach any priorities on capital improvements. We simply do not know which way to go without it. A good share of the money to be spent on the Action Plan involves the circulation of our traffic flows and the upgrading of our traffic signalling. This work is mandated by the State, it is long overdue, and it must be done. Other capital improvements would be a new firehall and new borough maintenance buildings. (Our garages now are in sad shape.) But the Planning Commission, of which I am chairman, has not been able to establish any order of priority. We cannot, without the Action Plan.

FOURTH WARD
REPUBLICAN
(Unopposed)

RALPH J. PAPALIA Incumbent. 18 Eddy st., Warren, Pa. Age: 57

EDUCATION: Business college.

OCCUPATION: Partner, A & B Heating & Sheet Metal Co.

TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE: None given.

ANSWER TO QUESTION: In answering this question, I wish to state that my first concern is, where will the money come from. As we all know, severe industrial cutbacks in the Warren area have created a serious problem resulting in the loss of many jobs. Since industry is the life blood of any thriving community, first priority should be given to finding ways and means of keeping the industry we have and encourage new industry to locate here. After this is accomplished and new revenues are available then we can determine which of the many proposed Capital Improvements can be given priority.

HAVE YOUR SAY

Municipal elections are sometimes considered "dull", and "unimportant" and they usually attract only a small percentage of eligible voters. BUT the officials elected at county and municipal levels are those who will be responsible for levying taxes and providing for the education, recreation, health and safety of your family. They will make the decisions that most closely affect your everyday life in your own community. MAKE SURE YOU HAVE YOUR SAY ABOUT WHO THESE OFFICIALS SHALL BE! VOTE NEXT TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1971

FIFTH WARD
DEMOCRATIC

CARL PFRIEM 444 Prospect st., Warren, Pa. Age: 37

EDUCATION: A.B. Degree in Sociology from Ohio University.

OCCUPATION: Salesman for UARCO Inc.

TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE: None other than fraternal and religious organizations.

ANSWER TO QUESTION: Housing for low income families. Attracting more industry into this area.

REPUBLICAN

KHLAR E. McDONALD Incumbent. 202 Redwood st., Warren, Pa. Age: 44.

EDUCATION: Temple University Medical School 1953.

OCCUPATION: Physician and Surgeon.

TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE: 5 years as Borough Councilman.

ANSWER TO QUESTION: None given.

SIXTH WARD
DEMOCRATIC

JOHN J. MASHENSIC JR — 114 Dartmouth st., Warren, Pa. Age: 38.

EDUCATION: Ebensburg Cambria High School; Williamsport Tech. School; Coyne Electrical School, Leadership School, Breckinridge, Ky; Non-commissioned Officer School, Chun Con, Korea.

OCCUPATION: Electronic Electrician.

TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE: I am a concerned voter and tax payer and interested in doing my best for the 6th Ward and the entire Warren Borough.

ANSWER TO QUESTION: With the visible progress being made in the Warren County School District and in our road programs, I believe we should now give sincere cooperation to our Housing Authority to plan Low Income Housing for low income families and housing for our senior citizens on a limited income.

REPUBLICAN

HAROLD E. MILLER Incumbent. 11 Grant st., Warren, Pa. Age: 41

EDUCATION: Bachelor of Science, Univ. of Pittsburgh. Masters Degree in Education, Univ. of Pittsburgh., Penn State University; Ithaca College.

OCCUPATION: Director of Athletics, Health, Physical Education and Recreation, Warren County School District.

TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE: Korean Veteran; Captain, U.S. Army, Command and Staff assignments; teacher and school administrator, 18 yrs.; concerned citizen and parent of five children; past president, Lacy PTA.; Council-at-Large, Boy Scouts of America; secretary, Allegheny Heart Association.

ANSWER TO QUESTION: Consideration should be given to the basis of real estate taxes placed upon our senior citizens who are trying to keep their home in our spiralling economy when on a fixed income.

We have a moral obligation to provide homes or apartments needed for our senior citizens.

Warren is long overdue for a by-pass. Planners should consider re-routing traffic around Warren, not emptying a four-lane super highway, such as the one at Market street. Every day our children going to and from school, our senior citizens participating in planned activities, residents of this area, and shoppers take their lives in their hands in crossing the street.

Warren Boro residents, especially residents of the Sixth Ward, should be concerned about air pollution coming from truck traffic and the overuse of Pennsylvania avenue.

Studies should be made of local industries and businesses and if high taxes are running them out of town, we had better decide once and for all do we want a community where every employable person is working or a town full of jobless people.

New industries should be invited into our area with an attractive tax basis, so that they would want to become a part of our community.

SEVENTH WARD
REPUBLICAN
Unopposed)

ELBERT H. MILLER Incumbent. 201 Oneida ave., Warren, Pa.

EIGHTH WARD
DEMOCRATIC

WILLIAM T. PRENDERGAST—Warren, Pa.

REPUBLICAN

GARY H. MARCY— 205 Lexington ave., Warren, Pa. Age: 28.

EDUCATION: 1962 graduate of Bryant & Stratton Business College.

OCCUPATION: Insurance Consultant, Nationwide Insurance Co.

TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE: President Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce 1970-71.

ANSWER TO QUESTION: The first priority for capital improvement is to have an Action Plan and to work that plan. It seems to me some people feel Warren should remain as is.

"No town remains the same." It either improves or it goes down hill. Warren is starting on that down hill journey and this must not continue.

For example: new business and industry must be encouraged to come to Warren. Surely, we can be selective in what type of industry we desire in order to keep in line with Ecology.

Without people living and working here, money cannot be spent here, no matter how great our business district is.

As to my views on Ecology—Let's clean up the pollution that is starting to go into our water and air and keep it clean. It can be done if we care enough.

One could write several pages on capital improvements but without a definite plan of action, these improvements may never come to be.

The residents of this community must make sure we have an action plan to assure planned progress.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1971

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)— For things to which you are naturally adapted, day has numerous advantages. In certain other matters, there will be obstacles, delays: Don't fret. Better aspects next week.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)— Not all will work out as planned but in many cases you will find out later that this has been to your advantage. Do what you must as well as you can; gains will accrue.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Note Taurus; your outlook similar. Be careful not to give others wrong impressions and do avoid making hasty decisions. Confusion could result.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)— Planetary aspects mostly auspicious, but accuracy and forethought must spark all decisions, moves. Some excellent results will reward serious endeavor.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)— Business and occupational interests will need more than usual attention, but give it to them and you will be highly pleased with results.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)— Get busy and buckle down where the odds are against you and problems loom. With the Virgoan's innate practicality and resourcefulness, you can handle all situations.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)— Neither expect nor demand too much and you will be surprised at your overall returns. Avoid, however, a current tendency to go off on tangents.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)— You may have to work hard to keep this day up to par , and to present yourself at your best. Pick up loose ends, retouch, finish all projects started.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)— There will be no easy way around this day. Just one misstep could mean a real setback. On the other hand, a smart, rightly calculated move could bring gains and increased prestige.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)— Don't waste time or energies. You will have this day "in the bag" if you emphasize system, accuracy, foresightedness. Study offerings well, however, before accepting.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)— Hold off in those areas which need more investigation, but step up your schedule once you have the data, so as not to lose time. New opportunities soon.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)— An excellent time in which to establish the basis for a more settled way of life. Plan all moves well and with future security in mind. Navigate your ship smartly.

YOU BORN TODAY add pep and enthusiasm to any undertaking. You work hard whether the job or task is simple or difficult—and your energies are boundless.

THE COOK'S CORNER

One For The Road--A Hearty Snack

By NATALIE WILLIAMS

You've got about six weeks to plan ahead for the holiday festivities — it's that close — and it does pay to plan ahead! What we're thinking of here, however, is the parties that end in the wee hours of the morning — or even sometimes before, for that matter.

Please! Encourage your guests to make that one for the road a cup of steaming hot black coffee and something substantial to eat. There's nothing "chicken" about sitting down to a spread of good food at the end of a party — simple fare indeed to make it easy on the hostess, but still something to send your guests safely home and you to bed with an easy mind.

We can well remember an annual all-night New Year's Eve party at a big old farm house back home in Maryland. The young people made merry downstairs while Mom and Pop were sound asleep upstairs — but no one left the house until they came down at the crack of dawn to serve big platters of scrambled eggs and bacon with plenty of toast and coffee.

The right one for the road can make a big difference between someone's arriving home safely and becoming a statistic. At the risk of injecting a sour note into this column — though we do so intentionally — we'd like to point out how many people are involved in holiday pile-ups.

There's the state, township and borough police, many of whom are working overtime and would rather be with their families, who view an unnecessary tragedy as a great pity. There's the ambulance crews who are called out to pick up the injured, the dead and the dying. There's the firemen who sometimes have to pry open doors. There's the doctors and nurses in emergency rooms fighting against time to save lives. There's the heart-broken relatives and friends. And the writer gets no pleasure from running tragedies on Page One. Don't say nobody cares — we all care.

So don't say "Have one for the road." Say instead, "Let's all have some coffee and cheese fondue." Close the bar, if necessary, to get everyone sitting down before they start drifting out the door.

What to serve depends upon the size of the gathering, the hour, your inclinations, and a lot of other things.

Every hostess should have one of the big party-perks or be able to borrow one. You can plug it in whenever you've a mind to and just let it stay hot so that those who must rush off can at least have a cup of coffee.

As to food, there's always scrambled eggs, almost everyone's favorite. Skip the bacon if you don't feel up to it — just toss in some shredded Cheddar, or parmesan, or snipped chives, and decorate with parsley.

A cold buffet is always good, too. This can be prepared in advance so that all it takes is a few minutes to make an attractive arrangement of what's on the menu.

You might make a chicken-noodle casserole and serve it over toast points. You can put this one together 1-2-3 and have it ready to pop into the oven for a half hour whenever the time is right. For four—double or triple as needed — mix up in a 1 ½ qt. casserole two 16-oz. jars egg noodles and chicken, 1 can undiluted condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1 cup grated Cheddar, ¼ cup chopped pimiento. Garnish with strips of cheese and paprika. Bake at 375 for 30 to 35 min.

If you've a little more time — it's late and the noise is getting to you — and you want to do a fun thing in the quiet of your kitchen, serve Toad-In-The-Hole, an English supper dish with something sort of like a Yorkshire pudding.

About an hour before serving time, preheat oven to 450. With a fork, prick 1 lb. fresh sausage links and place in greased 13 x 9 x 2 baking pan. Bake 15 min. or until well browned, turning once.

Meanwhile, at low speed in blender — or in bowl with spoon — blend 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, 1 cup regular all-purpose flour, ½ tsp. thyme leaves, ¼ tsp. salt until smooth.

When links are browned, pour off all but ¼ cup fat. Pour batter into pan, return to oven and bake 25 min. or until crust is brown and puffy. Serve with applesauce.

There's another fun idea, especially if the man of the house likes to show off his skill as a short order cook, using both hands at once. It makes for great conversation and he can turn out dozens of these odd little boogeys in no time flat.

It's Peter Hunt's recipe for Midnight Boogey — Never Before 12. With your left hand flap 2 slices bread with their centers cut out into a big iron spider (skillet) which is sizzling hot from butter. With your right hand break 1 egg each into the holes in the bread. In a moment or so, the bread is pan-toasted and the eggs fried on one side too. With your right hand wielding a spatula, flip the boogeys over and with your left hand pour store-bought chili sauce over the turned up egg center. When the bread is toasted on both sides, the chili sauce will be warned through. Slide the boogeys onto a plate and dig in with a fork, from the egg outwards. Make everybody left at the party one of these and be prepared to continue.

If you're the lazy type, there's always Peg Bracken's famous Sweep Steak. Put a 2 to 3 lb. round steak or pot roast on a sheet of aluminum foil big enough to wrap it in. Sprinkle a package of onion soup mix on top of it, fold the foil, airtight, around it, put it in a baking pan and bake it at 300 for three hours or 200 for nine hours. Thin sliced, this makes very good hot beef sandwiches, whether you just heat up a few cans of gravy or, better still, some of your own which you've taken from the freezer and thawed for heating.

Another quick-and-easy is what Peg Bracken calls Dr. Martin's Mix.

It takes about seven minutes to put together and about an hour to cook. Crumble 1 to 1½ lbs. pork sausage into a skillet and brown it. Pour off a little of the fat and then add 1 green pepper, chopped, 2 green onions, chopped, 2 or 3 celery stalks, chopped, 2 cups chicken consomme or bouillon, 1 cup raw rice, 1 tbsp. Worcestershire, ½ tsp. salt. Put the lid on and let it simmer for an hour.

Now, then, if you want to be elegant about everything but still not have too much work involved, we think fondue's your answer. The easiest, of course, is a cheese fondue with chunks of crusty French bread to dip into it. Make this is an earthenware pot. And don't worry about the alcohol in the fondue — we keep trying to tell people that the alcohol dissipates in the cooking process and all you have left is flavor.

Rub the inside of your fondue pot with a clove of garlic, cut in half. Toss ½ lb. each natural Swiss and Gruyere, shredded, with 3 tbsp. flour. Pour 2 cups dry white wine (Chablis, Rhine or Neuchatel) into fondue pot and set over low flame. When small bubbles show on bottom of pot and around edges, stir in 1 tbsp. lemon juice and cheese, a handful at a time, stirring constantly with a wooden spoon in a figure 8 pattern until all cheeses have melted. Then stir in a dash each of pepper and nutmeg, a bit of salt and 2 tbsp. kirsch or cognac. Guests swirl the bread cubes, each speared with a long-handled fondue fork, into the cheese mixture in a clock-wise fashion. If you wish to, you can stir into your fondue some very finely chopped shrimp or ham.

You may, if you wish, serve Fondue Bourguignonne, but this is suggested only if it is a small adult group likely to chatter around the table after the Christmas tree has been decorated or the New Year rung in. You'll need a metal pot and about ½ lb. boneless sirloin beef cubes per person. Fill pot about ½ full with peanut or salad oil and heat on stove to 360; set on stand over moderately high heat and maintain heat. Supply each person with two forks — one to swirl the meat to desired doneness, 1 to 3 min., and the other to eat it with while the first one is cooling. Supply also a variety of sauces for the cooked meat — each guest puts on his fondue plate those he prefers. Suggestions are Bearnaise, chutney, Sauce Diable, horseradish cream, various mustards, etc.

How to Keep Well By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

MEDICAL BROWSING

Many primitive tribes use the teeth and mouth as tools. Eskimo women, for example, clean sealskin by holding one end with the teeth and stretching the rest over one hand. With the other hand, the woman scrapes the skin using a semi-round knife.

Several Indian tribes chew skins, hides, thread, rushes and porcupine quills to make them soft. Eskimos may soften the edges of skins in this way to facilitate sewing of hides. Using their incisors and hands, Lapp women make threads from the Achilles tendon of the reindeer by dividing the tough cord.

According to Dental Abstracts, very little research has been done on the effect of using the teeth in this way. There are, however, a few reports on the early loss of teeth following this type of abuse.

Fishermen are warned not to bite off pieces of the line because the habit might nick or damage the teeth. Lines should always be cut with a knife or scissors. Perhaps, we could get additional information from dentists who take care of circus artists who swing or turn when suspended by a rope held between the teeth.

Long, flowing scarves worn by some teen-agers and women can be as hazardous as a maxi. A group of Boston physicians wrote about a 10-year-old girl who suffered extensive lacerations and severe facial fractures when her scarf became entangled in a ski tow. The youngster was drawn into the machinery. Another child was almost strangled after her scarf caught on the tow. She was lucky, because a physician who was nearby was able to rescue her. The authors reminded us of the most famous victim of this type of freak accident. Isadora Duncan, the American dancer, was strangled when her long scarf caught in the rear wheel of an open car in which she was riding.

HAIRCUT AND BALDNESS

W. W. B. writes: I'm becoming bald and wonder if a crewcut or butch haircut would retard the process?

REPLY

No. The most common type of baldness is hereditary and can be avoided only by getting a new set of grandparents. The scalps of many high school and college boys with crewcuts are beginning to show thru. If I were in their boots I'd wear my hair longer while it lasts. The alternatives are a wig and grafting tufts of hair in the bald area.

SNORING

A reader writes: My husband's snoring is about to break up an otherwise happy marriage. Since we live in a one-bedroom apartment, separate rooms are out of the question. Believe it or not, I've slept in the tub, but the sounds come right thru the door. Any suggestions will be appreciated.

REPLY

Under these circumstances you need ear plugs or hearing guards. Our leaflet on snoring may have some helpful suggestions.

"But now being made free from sin, and become servants to God, ye have your fruit unto holiness, and the end everlasting life," a Bible selection states.

St. Paul Lutheran Church Celebrates 100 Eventful Years Of Service

St. Paul Lutheran Church of Warren is having a double celebration this weekend.

The new church, located at the corner of Conewango Avenue and Division street, is to be dedicated Sunday at 3 p.m. The Rev. Gordon Odmark, assistant to the president of the New Jersey synod is to preach the sermon. The Rev. Sigmund Decker, Dean of the Warren-McKean District of the LCA is to be the officiant for the Rite of Dedication.

Saturday, a banquet is to be held for members of the church with the Rev. Vernon Serenius, former pastor at St. Paul from 1931 to 1940, scheduled to be the main speaker.

A booklet commemorating the 100th anniversary of the church has been written by Mrs. Hildur J. Anderson and Charlotta M. Erickson.

According to the booklet, St. Paul has experienced many changes in its long history; changes in location of the material structure from the original church on East Street between Fourth and Fifth avenues; the erection of a new brick structure at Water street and Second avenue, begun in 1903 and occupied until this year, when the new Colonial-style church with brick exterior at the corner of Conewango avenue and Division street was dedicated.

The purchase of the first church building was brought about because a small group of Scandinavian immigrants who longed to worship as they had done in their homeland persuaded a devout layman, Mr. Loving, to conduct worship services. In 1870, 20 persons attended the first meeting. In May, 1871, the congregation was formally organized.

The original church building was purchased from the German Lutheran Church in 1871 for $800. To raise this sum, two charter members, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Holmes, mortgaged their own home, turning the money over to the congregation until such time as the money could be raised. Mrs. Creed Erickson, a current member of the church, is a granddaughter of the couple.

to be dedicated in services Sunday (Photos— Mansfield)

The construction of the church building on the corner of Water street and Second avenue was begun in April, 1903, and by October, 1904, had progressed to the extent that the basement of the church was ready for use. This was dedicated by the Conference President. The remainder of the church building was subsequently completed, and the first service in the new sanctuary was held Dec. 3, 1911. At this time, the church had a membership of 377.

Then, on the night of Feb. 14, 1915, fire destroyed the church and parsonage, and the minister, Pastor and Mrs. Jacobson, lost all their personal belongings.

However, plans were quickly made to rebuild the church, and by October 15, 1916, the new church had been completely finished and refurnished. It was dedicated by the Rev. Dr. Julius Lincoln of Jamestown, N. Y. A temporary parsonage was rented at 110 Water and the present parsonage at 4 East Third was purchased some time later.

The dedication of the Parish House, across the street from the church, took place Sunday, March 23, 1958. The event climaxed years of planning for the much-needed facility.

Studies of church building needs, and making plans for the development of church property concerned the congregation for the next few years. A special meeting was held March 6, 1966 where authorization was given to purchase the property where the new church stands.

Blessing of the church site and ground-breaking service for the new church was held Oct. 25, 1970 with Pastor Nelson turning the first shovel of dirt.

Three members of the congregation have entered the ministry, including Russell-Johnson, son of Mrs. Leonard Garvin and the late George Johnson; Robert Karlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne Karlson; and Gordon Odmark, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Folke Odmark.

Lois Johnson Setterholm, daughter of Mrs. Leonard Garvin, is serving with her husband, Pastor Paul Setterholm, as missionaries in Japan.

The church has a number of organizations including Sunday School, Luther League, Lutheran Church Women and Lutheran Churchmen.

The current membership of the church is 623 communicant members, and 808 baptized members.

The new church contains approximately 18,000 square feet for worship, education and fellowship. The nave of the church seats 374, the choir loft provides for 38 persons, and the narthex an additional seating of 40 persons. The upper wing contains church office, pastor's study, parlor, kindergarten, nursery and crib room, and lavatories.

The lower wing contains six classrooms, mechanic's room, and lavatories. In the lower area under the nave, the fellowship hall seats 240 around tables, and contains a kitchen, four classrooms, and a choir room.

The organ has been moved from the old church, and is being enlarged from 14 to 23 ranks of pipes -- a total of 1,400 pipes.

A unique feature of the chancel is a free-standing altar which emphasizes the gathering of the people of God about the table of the Lord in joyous communion. The central pulpit is also used as lectern. The stained glass windows are from the old church.

The Building Commission membership includes Chairman, Mrs. William Welsh, Jr., and C. Robert Gustafson, William Johnson, Edward Hoffman, Duane Johnston, and Donald Peterson.

The Anniversary Committee includes Nelson Johnson, chairman and Mrs. Albert Anderson, Edith Berkman, William Brader, Roseanne Hoffman, Mrs. Allie Peterson, Carol Johnson, Duane Johnston, Violet Lilja, and Elmer Lundah..

The Memorial Committee is composed of Mrs. Harry W. Johnson, chairman, and Mrs. Bernard Bloom, Mrs. Jerome Davis, Mrs. Richard Hause, and Harry W. Johnson.

Balloons Belong In Church

I took to church one morning a happy four-year-old boy

Holding a bright blue string to which was attached his much loved orange balloon with pink stripes . . .

Certainly a thing of beauty

And if not forever at least a joy for a very important now.

When later he met me at the door

Clutching blue string, orange and pink bobbing behind him,

He didn't have to tell me something had gone wrong

'What's the matter?"

He wouldn't tell me.

"I bet they loved your balloon . . ."

Out it came, then — mocking the teacher's voice, "We don't bring balloons to church."

Then that little four-year-old, his lip a little trembly, asked:

"Why aren't balloons allowed in church? I thought God would like balloons."

I celebrate balloons, parades and chocolate chip cookies.

I celebrate seashells and elephants and lions that roar.

I celebrate roasted marshmallows and chocolate cake and fresh fish.

I celebrate aromas: bread baking, mincemeat, lemons . . .

I celebrate seeing: bright colors, wheat in a field, tiny wild flowers . . .

I celebrate hearing: waves pounding, the rain's rhythm, soft voices. . .

I celebrate touching: toes in the sand, a kitten's fur, another person . . .

I celebrate the sun that shines slab dab in our faces . . .

I celebrate snow falling . . . the wondrous quiet of the snow falling . . .

I celebrate the crashing thunder and the brazen lightning . . .

And I celebrate the green of the world . . . the life-giving green . . . the hope-giving green . . .

I celebrate birth: the wonder . . . the miracle . . of that tiny life already asserting its selfhood.

I celebrate tears for the mistreated, the hurt, the lonely . . .

I celebrate the community that cares . . . the church . . .

I celebrate the church.

I celebrate the times when we in the church made it . . .

When we answered a cry

When we held to our warm and well-fed bodies a cold and lonely world

I celebrate the times when we let God get through to our hiding places

Through our maze of meetings

Our pleasant facade

Deep down to our selfhood

Deep down to where we really are

Call it heart, soul, naked self

It's where we hide

Deep down away from God

And away from each other

I celebrate the times when the Church is the church

When we are Christians

When we are living, loving, contributing

God's children . . . I celebrate that He calls us His children even when we are in hiding

I celebrate Love . . . the moments when the You is more important than the I

I celebrate perfect love . . . the cross . . . the Christ loving in spite of . . .

giving without reward

I celebrate the music within a man that must be heard

I celebrate life . . . that we may live more abundantly . . .

Where did we get the idea that balloons don't belong in the church?

Where did we get the idea that God loves gray and sh-h-h

And drab and anything will do?

I think it's blasphemy not to appreciate the joy in God's world.

I think it's blasphemy not to bring our joy into His church.

For God so loved the world

That He hung there

Loving the unlovable

What beautiful gift cannot be offered unto the Lord?

Whether it's a balloon or a song or some joy that sits within you waiting to have the lid taken off:

The Scriptures say there's a time to laugh and a time to weep

It's not hard to see the reasons for crying in a world where man's hatred for man is so manifest.

But it's also not hard to see the reasons for laughter in a world where God's love for man is so manifest.

So celebrate!

Bring your balloons and your butterflies, your bouquets of flowers . . .

Bring the torches and hold them high!

Dance your dances, paint your feelings, sing your songs, whistle, laugh.

Life is distributing more balloons

For God so loved the world . . .

Surely that's a cause for Joy.

Surely we should celebrate!

Good news! That He should love us that much.

Where did we ever get the idea that balloons don't belong in the church?

Live Or Die

"Both feet in the grave" is how Planner Gary Templin described the condition of Jamestown's downtown district just two short years ago when most of the merchants were cashing in their chips and moving to the Chautauqua Mall.

For years the city fathers had been downright complacent about dressing up their downtown area. They were content to let a sleeping dog lie—after all, where else could the shoppers go? Erie? Buffalo?

Flocks of small competitors began popping up on all the main arterials to the city. They managed to sap some of the commercial strength of the downtown, but not enough to get city hall upset enough to do something.

Almost oblivious to the outside world, Jamestown stumbled along until one day the Chautauqua Mall appeared on the horizon and tried to give the city fathers a run for their money.

Too late, it seemed, they recognized the problem and tried to update their community.

Now, of course, Jamestown has a plan. The city lost some tax dollars to the mall before people became convinced that the downtown could still survive despite the existence of the suburban competition.

They had a close brush with total collapse, and even today, although the city is finally off the critical list, a lot must be done before it can be given a clean bill of health.

Will history repeat itself here in Warren?

We've all heard the rumors about shopping malls going up in North Warren, Starbrick or Pleasant Township.

Will the borough council wait until these rumors become hard proposals? Will they wait until the proposals become realities and half Warren's merchants are committed to moving out of town?

For those that haven't quite gotten the idea yet look at it this way: commerce equals tax dollars; tax dollars equal municipal services; municipal services equal clean streets, workable sewers, snow removal, etc. etc. etc.

If the downtown can stay alive and well the businessmen will pay a lot of these tax dollars. If they are forced out of business or move away, you, the resident, will have to pay much more for the same things you're getting now.

Time will tell.

TEMPER, TEMPER . . .

ON THE RIGHT

The Coming Of Age Of The U.N.-I

By William F. Buckley Jr.

The general elation over at the United ations was most graphically expressed hen after the vote defeating the United ates on the important procedural point, e delegate of Tanzania stepped forward the podium and danced a jig. The jig pressed that special delight one feels on eating a giant.

We, of course, are the giant in the tuation, and although there was another iant and a few middleweights lined up gainst us, still it was the first time that he United States, premier economic and ntil very recently premier military figure in the world, went down to inglorious defeat: on a resolution sponsored by Albania, a little, reclusive country composed primarily of rocks and serfs, with here and there a slave master, whose principal export is Maoism. And, of ourse, the backdrop was perfect: the kyline of New York, metropolitan hearth f the giant who was felled by a coalition ed by Albania which tallied the vote of Byelorussia as the equal of France and England, and weighed the principles of the United Nations' charter not at all.

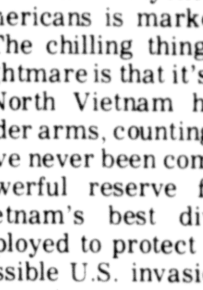
The trouble with fantasies is that they do not endure, not in the real world. nevitably, when a collection of nations omes together to frustrate the will of a powerful nation, the frustration oomerangs. If membership in the United ations is greatly worth having, it is ecause the United Nations has much to ffer its members. Foremost is power and restige. The power of the United Nations epends very heavily on the extent to which its determinations are accepted as binding by those nations of the world which are themselves powerful. Insofar as the United Nations engages in activities that reveal its weaknesses (say its failure to bring peace in India); or that reveal theoretical hypocrisy (for instance its insistence on universality alongside its refusal to recognize Rhodesia); or its capricious politics (the expulsion of Taiwan), it diminishes that which made membership desirable in the first place. It is as if everyone wanted to go to Harvard because Harvard has so fine a reputation, and gradually Harvard begins admitting everyone who wants to go to Harvard. What happens is that gradually Harvard loses the reputation that made it desirable in the first instance.

Actually, it has been quite a while since first it became apparent that the United Nations had no clothes. Its high water mark was the Korean War, when we dressed up our soldiers as agents of the United Nations and went along with the act.

But soon after that — very soon after that — we were confronting, in connection with events in Poland, in Hungary, in Tibet, on the Sino-Indian border, all over the world, the military and moral powerlessness of the U.N. and shrewd international specialists, like Professor Hans Morgenthau, were warning that it is important to remember that "the United Nations is a procedure, not a policy."

It was inevitable that the U.N. should become primarily an instrument of embarrassment, in the most recent instance, the embarrassment of the United States through the manipulation of Taiwan. It makes a difference when we are singled out for humiliation. The U.N.'s condemnation of Israel a few years ago made no difference at all to Israel, because Israel is profoundly convinced of the correctness of its policies. The condemnation of China as an aggressor made absolutely no difference to China because China, like Russia, like Herbert Marcuse, insists that such condemnations as are directed against its activity are expressions of bourgeois morality: indeed, they are more likely to collect condemnations as proof of their effectiveness, than be embarrassed by them.

But this is not true of the United States of America. We care very deeply when we see committed, primarily in order to embarrass us, manifest injustices by an international body of which we are a founder, the principal subsidizer, and in which we are an active participant. We care enough to do something about it. We cannot refound the U.N., removing the Utopian gleam from the eyes of its architects. To alter substantially our subsidy is interpretable as an act of petulance which, for all that there is acturial and spiritual justification for it, makes us somehow ill-at-ease. The answer is to revise the nature of our participation in the United Nations, which is an inevitable as the movement towards midnight in Cinderella's clock.



WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Hanoi's Future Plans

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON—A four-star general who happens to agree with Pentagon critics that the Vietnam War was a mistake, keeps having a recurrent nightmare.

The nightmare takes place after the completion of the American withdrawal. He dreams that North Vietnamese regulars swarm across the demilitarized zone and sweep down the Ho Chi Minh trail network. They defeat the South Vietnamese Army, which the U.S. has left to its own defenses.

Saigon's corrupt ministers, generals, businessmen and bankers, who waxed rich on the war effort, escape to Europe to join their Swiss bank accounts. But they leave behind tens of thousands of Army officers, civil servants, regional officials and other employees to the mercy of the communists.

In the nightmare, these victims are methodically executed. Also rounded up are all the translators, clerks, drivers and even menial laborers who worked for the Americans. Anyone who befriended the Americans is marked for extermination.

The chilling thing about the general's nightmare is that it's based upon cold fact.

North Vietnam has one million men under arms, counting the home guard, who have never been committed to battle. This powerful reserve force includes North Vietnam's best divisions, which were deployed to protect the homeland from a possible U.S. invasion.

PLANNED EXTERMINATION

Once the U.S. withdraws from the war, these million men could be unleashed against the south. Rosy estimates that the South Vietnamese Army could defend the country are based on the present military situation. An additional million men, whether they entered South Vietnam as regulars or guerrillas, could overrun the country.

In the past, Hanoi's rulers have demonstrated a savage ruthlessness in eliminating the opposition. After they seized control of the north, they conducted a systematic slaughter of families that had ties to the previous government. A period of controlled chaos swept North Vietnam.

Again during the Tet offensive, the North Vietnamese troops who temporarily occupied Hue were accompanied by communist cadres with lists of names. A house-to-house search was made for persons on the lists. Men, women and children, many of them with only remote ties to the Saigon government, were herded into mass graves.

Captured enemy documents and intercepted radio broadcasts indicate that the communists have no intention of changing their methods.

"We must counter the aggressive war not only in the present but in the future," declares one security document, "even when our fatherland is completely liberated. The class struggle will continue to take place, fierce and complicated, especially the struggle against spies, reactionaries and henchmen of the U.S. imperialists. . . ."

A Viet Cong security circular, picked up in military region five, exhorts: "As soon as we liberate an area, we must destroy the enemy's oppressive machinery . . . repressing and purging undesirable elements."

A captured training document emphasizes that, even after the war is over, the communists will "completely destroy the enemy in order to protect the revolutionary government and to build a prosperous and happy life for the people."

CODE WORDS

The intercepted messages, incidentally, usually use code words in calling for political executions. One favorite is "tran ap" which literally means to "repress." Another is "xu ly" which means "to solve a problem." But to the Viet Cong, the interpretation is to "execute." The phrase "xu ly tai cho" means literally "to solve a problem on the spot"—that is, "summary execution."

Other euphemisms for murder, literally translated, call for the victim "to sleep with the worms" or "to dive for shrimp" or to be fed "copper candy."

The sum total of these documents, combined with our own interviews, leave little doubt that the North Vietnamese plan to continue and extend their terror after the U.S. withdrawal.

Yet we could find no evidence that detailed contingency plans have been drafted to rescue the friends we will leave behind, only a handful of Washington officials seemed to be concerned about the problem.

The general's nightmare, unhappily, has substance.

Footnote: A captured document, that had been copied by hand and circularized in Khanh Hos province, instructed communist troops indiscriminately to "intercept and destroy the Honda motorcycle riders. If they're not civil servants, then they must be servicemen."
